FOREWORD

Whatever title a student body chooses to become known by reveals the vital character of that group.

The sobriquet "Knight and Lady" was not chosen lightly or on impulse. Many, many names were offered and considered.

Members of that very first student council had the difficult task of leading a student body with long established traditions into a void—a completely new school, unknown, unnamed.

Selecting a path through a maze of untried adventures, they realized there were vast implications in the title "Knight and Lady." But there was also a challenge. It was this that fascinated them.

Lowerclassmen zealously committed themselves to become worthy of the best the name implied. They pledged to encourage future students, by their example, to do likewise.

Today, five years later, Northwest Classen has accomplished the first year of its second generation—or four-year program.

She can point proudly to her graduates. The probability of becoming like that which they admired and strove to emulate, has achieved magnificent results.

From the fellowship and friendship, socially and scholastically, enjoyed at Northwest Classen students discover goals toward which to direct their energies.

Names and incidents may sometimes be forgotten, but the meaning of being worthy of the title, "Knight and Lady," is a substantial pilot.

Here 'twixt night and morn lies "Unborn Tomorrow, and dead Yesterday." Silent moonbeams cavorting in the splash and spray await the dawn.

Alan,
You're a great guy and I've really enjoyed knowing you these past 2 years. Lots of luck, be good, have fun and remember me.

Graduation exercises were held in our own school for the first time in '59. Handing out more than 500 diplomas kept several people busy. Mr. Roblyer took his turn greeting and congratulating grads.

Do you judge people by their looks? Are fat people jolly? Are blondes dizzy?

Teachers can sometimes tell something about a student by looking at him because they know what to look for. But rarely do they trust snap judgments. Instead they rely on scientific methods of guidance and counseling.

Increasing awareness of the need of understanding students as individuals is the core of counseling. There are many routes by which this understanding comes.

Tests and measurements aid in placing students where they can best realize happiness in academic work. But there are other areas of a student's life counselors need to know before they can competently interpret the student to himself and to others.

To treat each student as differently as his individual differences demand is a near impossible task in America's crowded, understaffed public schools. But pointing out to a student's instructor his more significant differences can lead to better adjustment. This is the job of our counselors.

No one can predict a student's future behavior, but teachers do feel responsible for an effort at guiding him away from calamity.

Here counselors are worth their weight in gold.

TRADITIONS ARE AN

In the springtime all seniors' minds turn to thoughts of caps and gowns. Even at 90 in the shade they haunt the halls in their grey robes.

ROUND TABLE QUEEN coronation, which falls on the day the yearbook is distributed, is a climax filled with suspense—and surprises. It represents one of our most beloved, and oldest, traditions. Round Table royalty is Knightland's royalest.

AGELESS CREED.

Each year our foreign exchange student finds new friends awaiting her in her home away from home.

Changing themes and faces keep the traditional Junior-Senior Prom forever young. No graduation would be complete without this final fling.

Biggest mixer of the year is the annual Signature Swing. Autographing attains mass-production dimentions. The 1959 session registered 1439 loyal Knights and Ladies who came early and stayed late.

OUR DAILY DOZEN

Not only on its Knights and Ladies does Northwest Classen pride itself, but on those dedicated to giving Knightlanders educational fundamentals and a philosophy for future life. These devoted souls refuse to let us give less than our best. They cherish for us ideals and principles of true chivalry.

Arriving as faltering Pages, we are molded into Heralds, aware of a place among fellow Knights. As we turn Squire, we look to our future with confidence based on Knight standards and appreciation of the fellowship that makes our path less hazardous.

Reward comes with being dubbed Knight—challenge to build for ourselves a place in tomorrow's world.

FACULTY — CURRICULUM

Fine weather is a fine time for Fine Arts classes to hold a sketching session in the patio. Freedom for self development is important educational philosophy in Knightland.

Allen,
Congratulations on your scholarship -
I guess I'll see you at OSU in a year or so -
Lots of luck
until then,
Mike Mc Main

Mrs. Winnie Murray explains elements of a good display poster in Commercial Art designed to develop the ability to evolve ideas and express them visually in two and three dimensional forms.

ART IS ARTLESS

Today great emphasis is placed on scientific research and technological approaches. However, in Knightland artistic skills to provide appreciation for finer things are equally stressed.

Among offerings of the Art Department are perspective, art design, simple figure drawing, costume design, yearbook art, still life and landscape drawing. Commercial Art includes silk screen, block printing, magazine cover and industrial designs. Ceramics and sculpturing are popular courses.

Miss Mary Lamb Lewis and Mrs. Winnie Murray discuss merits of a display.

Design is fundamental in fashioning materials into effective styles. Members of Miss Mary Lamb Lewis's fashions class prepare drawings from live models.

HOMEMAKING MARKS 50th ANNIVERSARY

Homemaking emphasizes knowledge for happy living in a changing world. Consumer responsibilities, budgeting, elements of harmonizing decor and design are popular topics. Foods and nutrition, fabrics and fashions are considered in practical terms. Preparation of menus for family meals as well as festive times gets attention.

Patching demands patience but is part of every thrifty homemakers existence. Even anniversary cakes sometimes fall, even if the photographer is waiting, as happened to the departmental 50th anniversary cake this year. But with poise becoming Pearl Mesta, the girls served their cake and liked it, too. Whether such trials will beset these tyros as they face the world on their own this was a qualifying experience.

Miss Shirley Riddle's schedule included four classes in homemaking, and one advanced foods class. Mrs. Ramah Miller directed home decorations, Family Relations, and clothing classes.

Homemaking arts are handy for future homemakers, but what a time for the thread to snap! Jeannie Lloyd repairs damages.

Company coming may bother some people, but girls who have majored in homemaking have the know-how for preparing a table properly.

Family Relations, a course enjoyed in the relaxed atmosphere of the homemaking living room, is designed for discussing problems facing todays' youth. Budgets, dating do's and don'ts, family harmony, child care, considerations of suitable backgrounds for successful marriage, are topics on the agenda for the semester course.

LEARNING IS EARNING

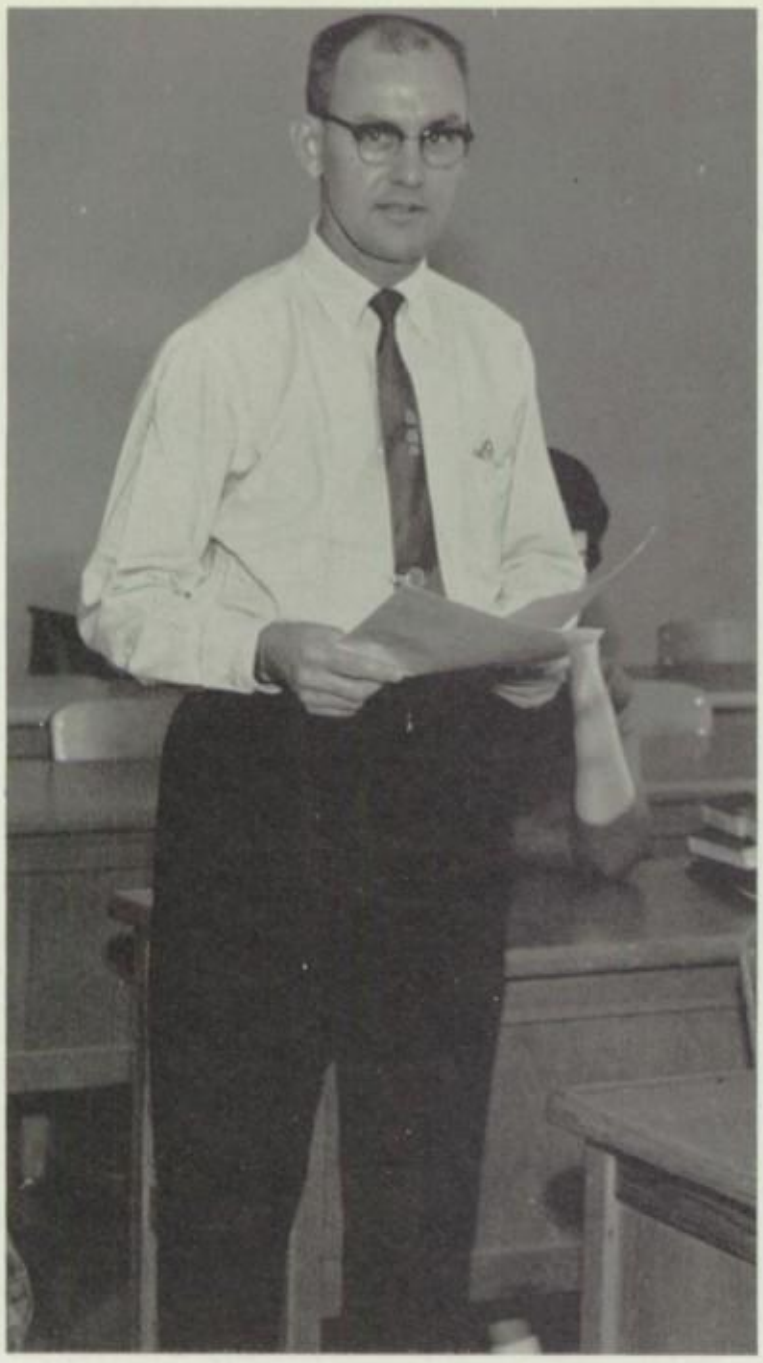
To educate and prepare Knightlanders for responsibilities of employment is the purpose of Diversified Occupations and Distributive Education. Students enrolled in these courses do classroom work and on-the-job-training. DE offers training in the principles and procedures of distribution of goods. DO offers students a survey of requirements of various trades for the purpose of aiding in deciding on an occupation.

This preparation enables students to have wider knowledge and awareness of the industrial world they will soon enter.

Miss Beth West, DE instructor, finds visual aids helpful in teaching the techniques of getting a job.

Mrs. Evelyn Findly helps Kay Shadid with typing lesson while Majorie Buchner, student trainee, observes.

Mrs. Ivy Copeland explains the mechanics of a Burrough's posting machine. Students taking Business Machines have an opportunity to learn mechanics of up to date office equipment.



Mr. Alvin Bryan, Business Education Department head, sees that classes are coordinated and everything runs smoothly in this department.

Mrs. Lucile Spann, Miss Jo Alice Hendricks, Mrs. Maxine Tyler get together after a class and compare achievements of students.

VOCATIONS VANISH VACILLATIONS

Students enrolled in Diversified Occupations are trained for a trade, or an industrial occupation. Mr. Horace Brooks brings out high points when students watch a film on employer-student relations.

Even students in auto-mechanics listen to lectures. Mr. Charles Hale explains to his beginning auto-mechanics class functions of the different parts of the automobile.

Allen Aleshire and Jeff Williams work on the engine-block of a car with up to date tools supplied by the department.

Purpose of the Auto-Mechanics course is to create situations and incentives to enable boys to learn the mechanical and theoretical operation of an automobile's various units. Among course material covered are the functions, principles, and repair techniques of engine and brake system, units of the electrical system, engine timing and operation, and oils and their properties.

ACCURACY IS VITAL

Mr. David Hoke, Drivers Education instructor, confident that a trained driver is a safe driver, indicates to Karen Knott that she'd better slow down. Drivers Education department is up to date with facilities for turning out safe drivers.

Printing teaches accuracy. This pre-trade course gives the theory of production work. Boys often set and run records and other simple printed forms.

Photography is a department with physical facilities that make it a popular subject. The course primarily teaches students operation of their own cameras. Darkroom skills and picture composition are also taught.

IN SHOP WORK

Mechanical Drawing begins with learning how to use drawing tools. Hand lettering is stressed. Successful, interested students may continue with architectural drawing. Some work in machine and drafting procedures is offered.

Mr. R. N. Smith examines a printing sample while Mr. Horace Brooks and Mr. Homer Moody await his verdict.

Proper and safe use of hand tools is emphasized in woodwork. Machine tools are available for perfecting intricate models and surfaces. Students in the department have an annual exhibition of their finished projects.

Mr. Gerald Heusel explains special woodwork skills to two of his advanced students.

ESSENTIAL EXACTITUDE ENFORCED

Mr. Frank Capps, student trainee, assists a student adjusting a testing device in electronics. Although equipment is located in the shop, electronics is a science course.

Mr. Alvin Bryan instructs audio-visual aides, Jimmy Fabian, Jimmy Griggs, Larry Burton how to operate projector for use in class rooms.

Hamming it up in Play Production class, for the sake of the Round Table photographer, left to right, are, J. Johnson, L. Mann, P. Conyers, P. Kimsey, H. Lamirand, C. Kise, N. Norton, J. James, N. Wilson, J. Bolls, C. Miskovsky, C. Barrett, S. Markham, K. Knott, J. Rose, L. Masters, D. Mielenze, K. K. Brandes, L. Rice, P. Klein, T. Sullivan.

'Classic's' dress rehearsals bring tense moments. Timed to the minute, Mrs. Ollie Ruth Pitts, director, gasps while Mr. Ted Nichols, sound specialist, hastles a knot. Hi-Li, on leash, is plain bored.

Correct, authentic settings are required by those in charge of presenting plays. Mr. Ted Nichols, with his stage craft crew, has produced some fantastic and difficult settings. These unsung heroes are, left to right, Mr. Nichols, J. Leech, R. Lusk, L. Irving, J. Strahl, D. Cromwell, L. Hodge, J. Hester, M. Nance, A. Brock, J. Coughlin, M. Whytlaw, D. Todd, F. Charles, C. Pitzer, K. Tatum, J. Perry, B. Burrus, W. Ratcliff, L. Newman, L. Blalock, S. Reynolds, S. Foster.

Allen—
It has been a true pleasure
knowing you.
I will miss
you next year.
Good Luck in College.
Love ya
Gerri Fowler

Mrs. Patricia Gulley, center, debate coach, is recognized as an outstanding speech major. This is her first year in Knightland. She pauses for a word with Nick Woodard, and student trainee, Miss S. Park.

WHAT'S A DAY WITHOUT A SONG!

In the foreground, Kathy Norris, Mary Clarkson and Mr. John Platt, director. Row I: R. Shelton, S. Hall, J. Wilkes, J. Adams, R. Homsey, G. Hepler, A. Blaske, R. McConnell, M. Haffner, D. Looks easy! But these band formations are the result of weeks of 7 a.m. to 8:15 practice routines in all kinds of weather. Members also represent Knightland in downtown, civic parades. No football game would be complete without Mr. Johnson and the band.

It's not all glamour. There are several years of training in the making of a Majorette, along with constant practice. The girls design their costumes, and have several changes. Their routines are an important part in pep rallies.

A prelude of organ music by either, Nick Woodard, Caroline Points, Pam Clemons, or Jerry Bednar, entertains audiences prior to and following assemblies.

Music theory gives students a background of fundamentals. Ear training is stressed. History of composers, major and minor keys, are also offered. D. Smith, S. Moore, D. C. Riley, G. Hepler, L. Williams, S. Jones, C. Barrett, and Ann Smith listen to Mr. John Platt.

Northwest Classen's PTSA boasts top membership in the nation with 2821 members. PTSA executive board members arrange the annual membership drive jam session, teacher appreciation dinner, and Career Day conference. Stan Harrison, Mrs. Dan Lacy, Mrs. Gene Moss, Mr. J. Frank Malone, Mrs. E. D. Norton, Mrs. E. A. Roesler, Mrs. Earl Givens, Mrs. Louis Loeffler, Mrs. W. R. Tracewell.

ACTIVITIES ABBREVIATE THE DAY

Student Council composed of representatives from each of 67 home rooms, meets twice weekly. Action centered on campus safety.

MISS KATHLEEN OWEN
Activities Director

Homeroom units are the basic element of all activities. Meeting each morning at 9:30 they listen to administrative announcements and hear reports from their Student Council representative.

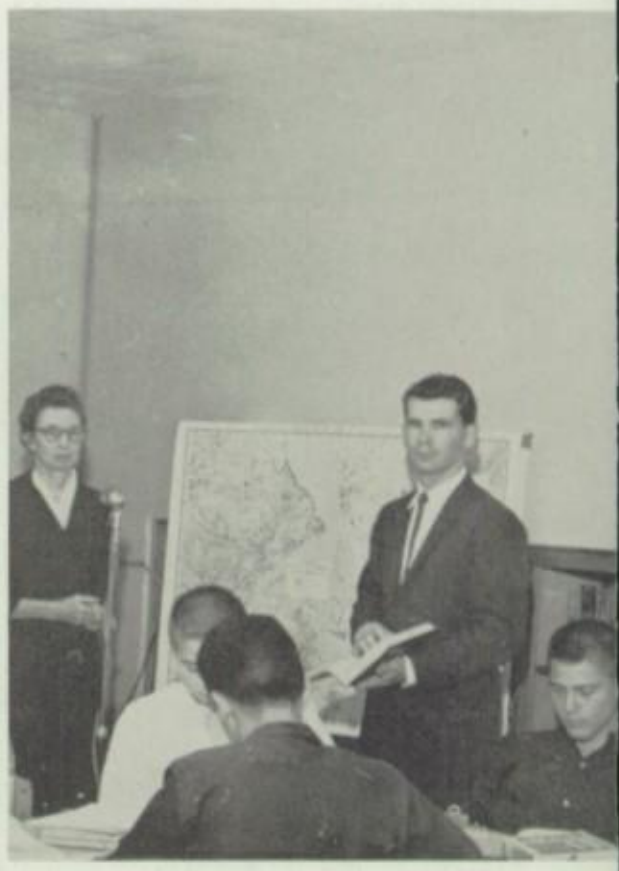
Television has made it possible for a team of teachers to care for as many as 200 students in a single class. TV social study sections met in the auditorium. Mr. Duane Weinert and Miss Gladys Shepard, instructors, were aided by Mrs. Mary Hanky, instructional assistant.

THE PAST STIRS OUR CURIOSITY

Appreciation of history as a day-to-day process in which each of us is an operative factor is aided by TV, special maps, current magazines, newspapers and guest speakers.

Students discuss causes an' events. Thus the story of mankind becomes more than dates, deaths, and disasters. Oklahoma, American, and World history, approached through political, economic, and social recountings, psychology, World and social problems, make a rich curriculum contribution.

Mr. Clayton Davis, Mrs. Jeanne Rippee, Mrs. Dorothy Peale, Miss Blanche Holland, and Mr. Don Van Pool meet briefly to discuss an approach to a new unit in social studies.



Team class in American history for some seventy juniors, is taught by Miss Ophelia Byars and Mr. Steve Ellis. Oral reports, films, and maps supplement textbook material.

Knightland's coaching staff had a successful year. Mr. Rex Irwin, football and track; Mr. David Hoke, tennis; Mr. Don Van Pool, basketball; Mr. Clayton Davis, football; Mr. Jerry Haynes, football; Mr. Paul Crowe, swimming; Mr. Carroll Smelser, athletics director.

"A HEALTHY BODY — A FIT MIND"

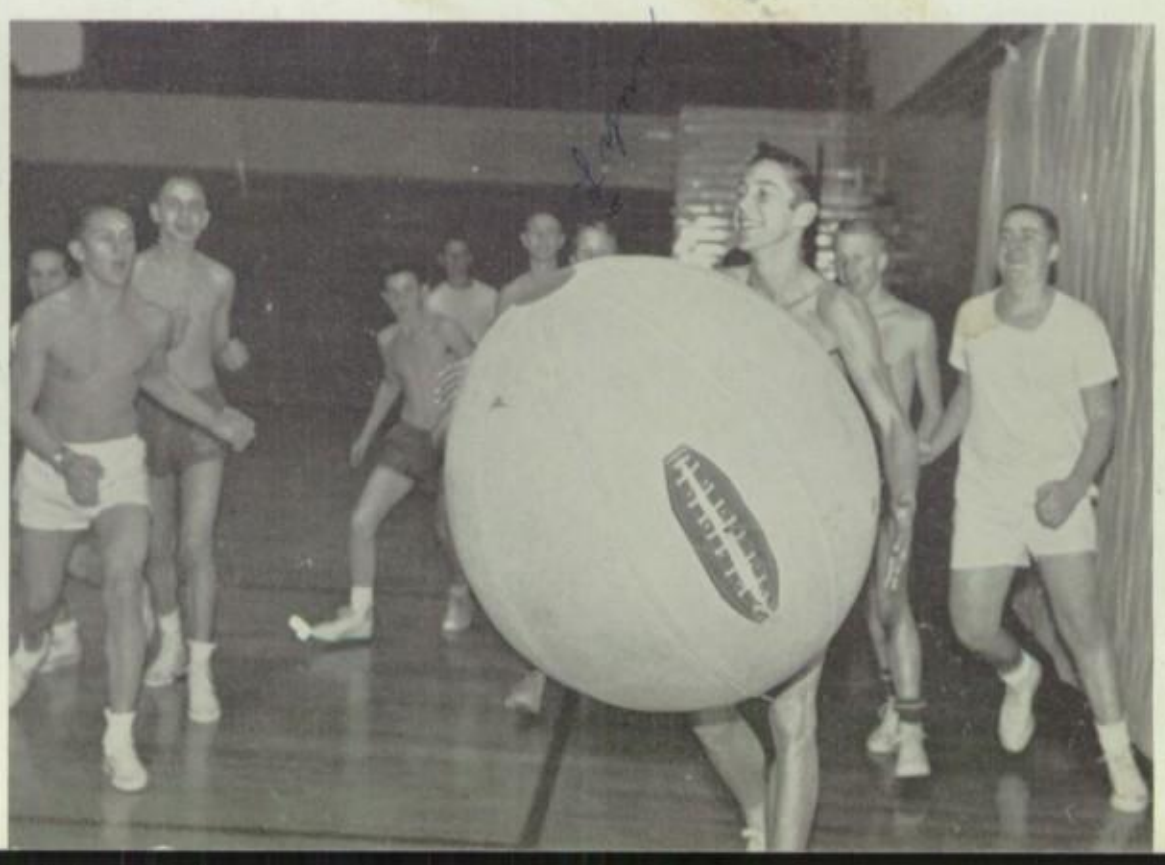
An emotional appreciation of good sportsmanship helps qualify us for fuller lives. Physical education in some form is required for graduation from Northwest Classen.

Boys' division includes major competitive sports; individual sports—tennis, track, and cross-country; self testing activities, such as tumbling and wrestling, plus conditioning calisthenics. Important health rules are stressed in all courses.

Girls' division offers team sports, individual sports, folk and modern dancing, tumbling, and trampoline work. Those enrolled in advance individual sports represent the school in city and state competitions.

Miss Margaret Doussett, team sp[illegible]oach, and Mrs. Cortez Copher, individual sports coach, show Mary Sp[illegible]s the proper way to serve a volleyball.

Mrs. Cortez Copher directs Peggy Spivey's ballet arms in modern dance. S. Gatlin, S. Anderson, A. Forester, and S. McCan watch.



DER HUND — LE CHIEN — THE DOG!

The English language is always changing, and how well these teachers know it! New developments keep Mr. Sidney Ohmart, Miss Anne Whitehead, Mrs. Madge Mills, Miss Doris Taylor, Mrs. Ruth Warram, and Mr. Gordon Eriksen on the alert.

Knights may soon be speaking foreign languages with amazing facility. Provided with microphones, tape recordings of their own voices, slides, and a teacher in a modern language laboratory, students have a self-evaluating situation. Miss Henrietta Von Tungeln and Miss Carol Greniger find students make marked progress with this method of learning.

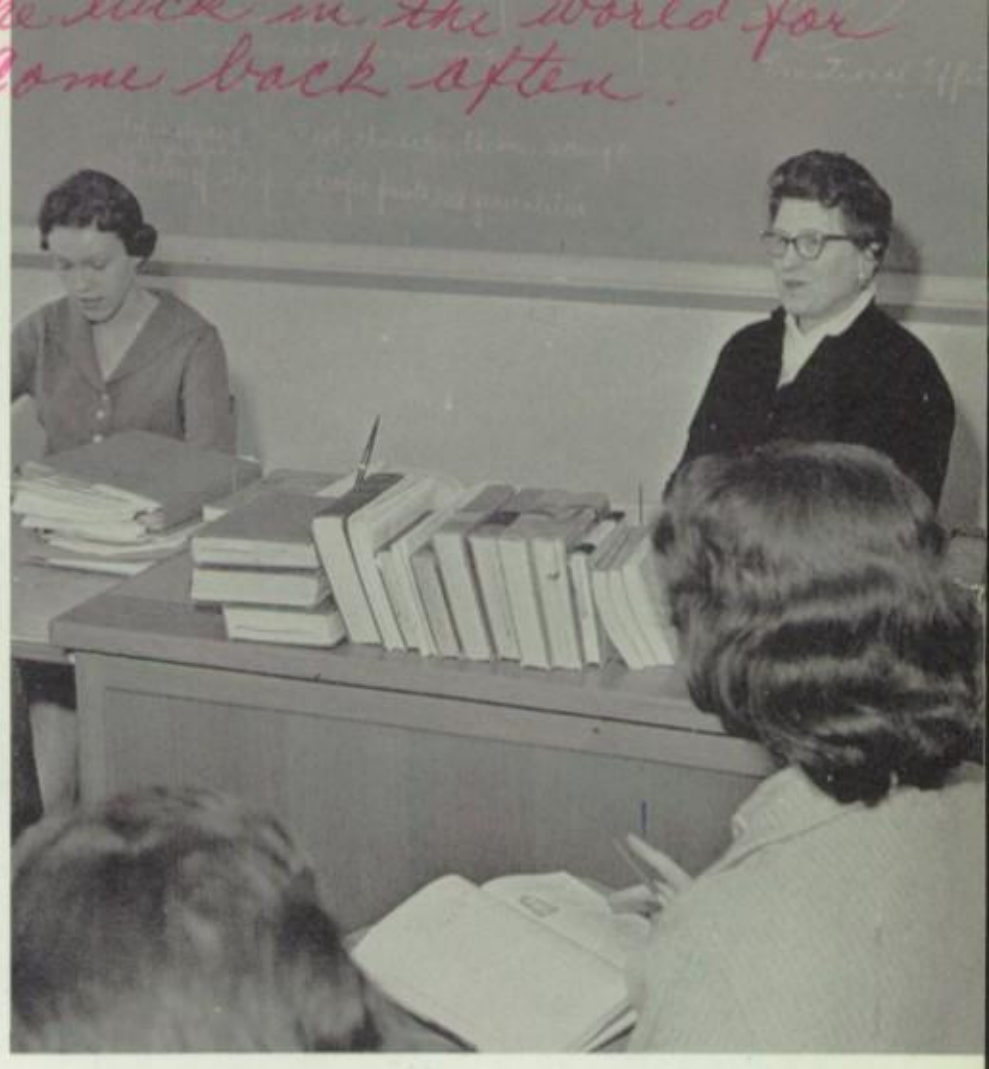
Mr. Virgil Caldwell, Spanish instructor, advises Miss Olga Koenig, German teacher, not to worry. Miss Koenig is from Amberg, Germany.

Miss Audrie Alberts, Latin-English teacher, and Mr. Leonard Marcotte, French teacher, review memories of the Trojan War. Miss Alberts juggles two languages into a single class. English to Latin, Latin to English.

Latin and French teachers confer over a point. "Of course it has a Latin root," Mrs. Wilma Bird tells Mr. Bill Hughes, French teacher.

Meeting place for teacher conferences is the English department office. Miss Helen Bourke, Mrs. Mabel Park, and Mrs. Hazel Livingston get together to evaluate a new outline.



Miss Katherine Gibson, English department head, takes great pleasure in her Great Books Class. This class has read and discussed, among others, Milton's Aereopagitica, Plato's Apology, Aristotle's Politics, Shakespeare's Macbeth, and Marx and Engel's Communist Manifesto.

Mrs. Ola Mae Oakes, special education director, helps students improve their reading skills. Individual attention to problems builds confidence.

Order is the first law in the library. Mrs. Alma Doughty and Mrs. Ethel Gay keep tab on some 13,000 volumes.

Mr. Rodney St. Dizier, head of Mathematics department, and Mrs. Helen Willingham, team teachers, confer on presentation of a daily geometry assignment.

Student, James Askins, may look like he's playing bongos, but it's really a chemistry experiment. Aiding him are Billy Garrett, Mrs. Betty Richard, instructor, Gail Ellis, and Jann Christian.

MATHEMATICS IS THE BRIDGE

Mathematics is a bridge to many vocations; science. engineering, accounting, and architecture. Those wishing to follow a career in business are offered business arithmetic. Mathematically inclined students go on to solid geometry, trigonometry, and math analysis. Basic math classes make it possible for every student to be mathematically literate.

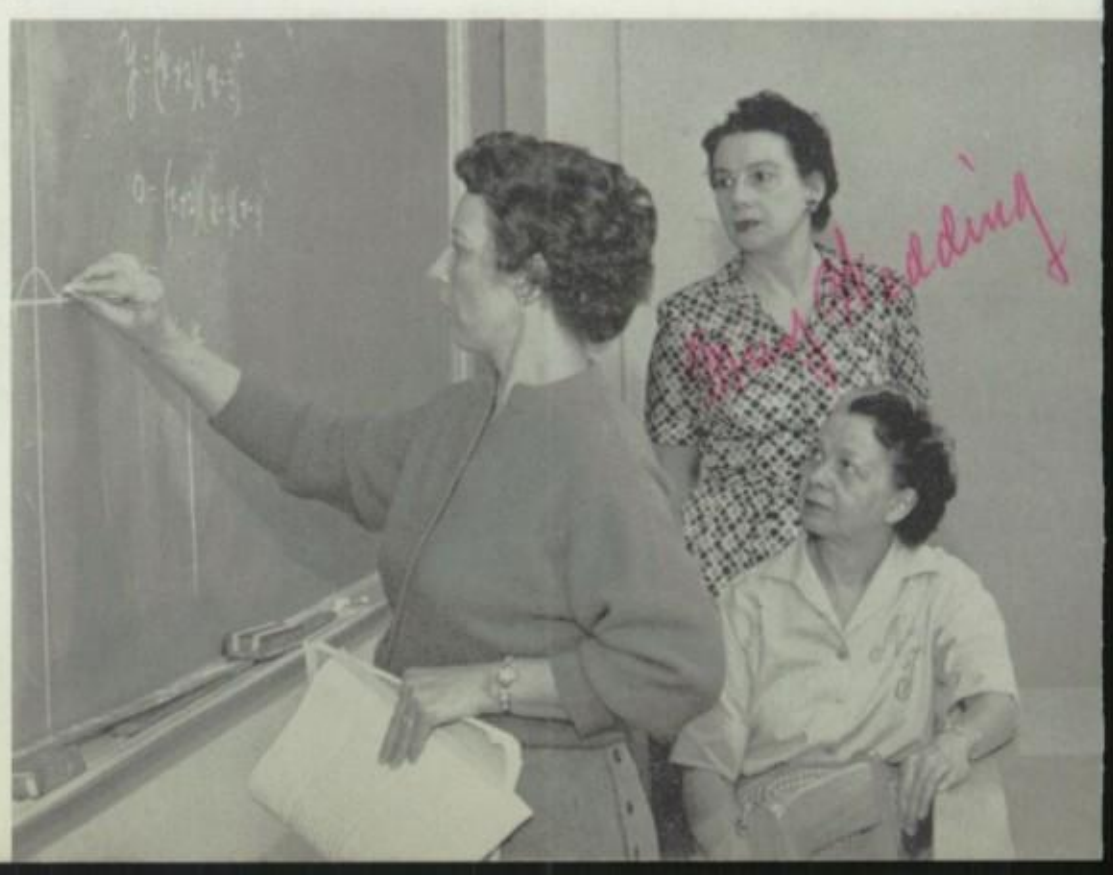
Whether dealing with knowns or unknowns, angles or triangles, mastery and application of ancient skills is learned. A new vocabulary and a way of orderly reasoning rewards earnest efforts.

Scientists plotting orbits, engineers studying specifications, accountants checking bank shortages, architects drawing floor plans, each claim a similar heritage, mastery of basic mathematical procedures.

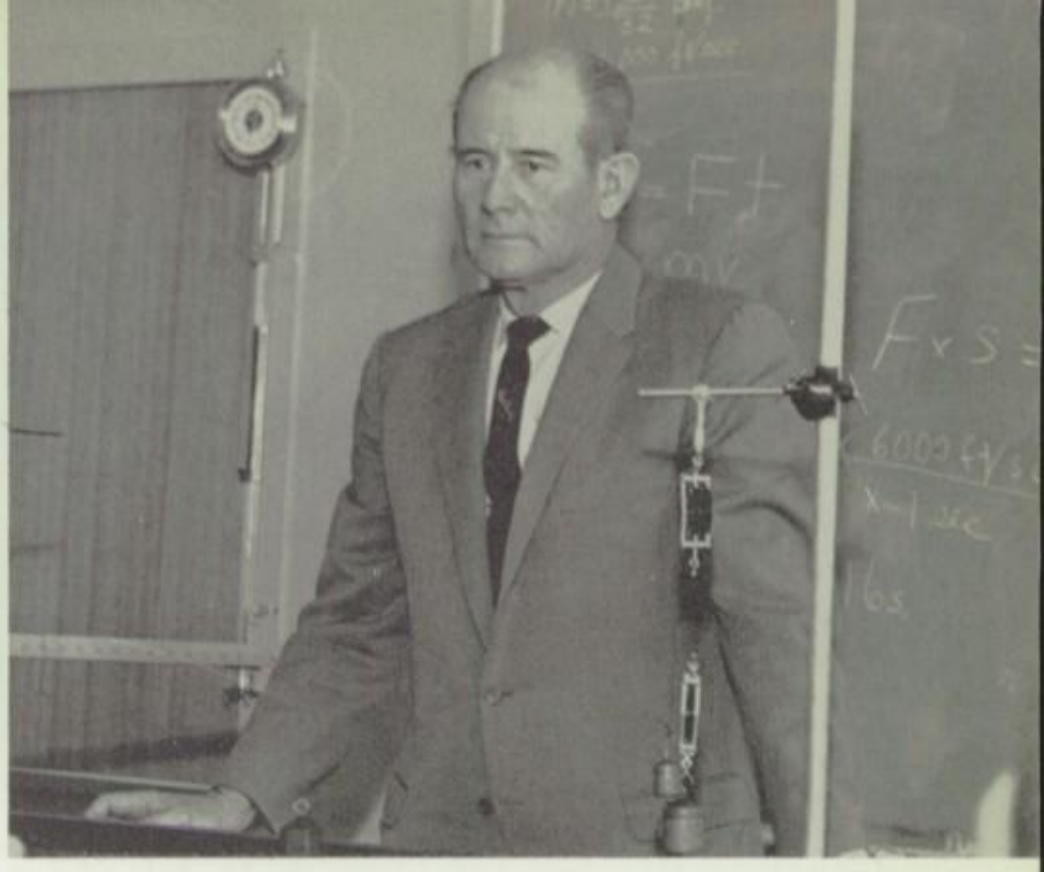
Miss Berniece Gordon makes trigonometry understandable by illustration and example. Her room had an array of geometric designs fashioned into decorations at Christmas time.

It's Greek to us, but these wizards understand graphs and charts. Not intimidated by complexities of a slide rule, Mr. Arthur Wilmoth, Mrs. Laverna Boyles, Mr. Rex Irwin, and Mr. Paul Crowe, look comfortable against algebraic arabesque.

At a departmental meeting, an attentive trio, Mrs. Margaret Thompson, Miss Mary Wedding, and Miss Charlotte Smith, provide an audience for Mrs. Nellie Ecton's parabola explanation.



Striking up intimate acquaintance with grasshoppers is one of many topics students discover in biology. Mr. John Paden, instructor, illustrates his discussions with a diagram of the complicated critter.



Mr. Jim Conger heads the science department faculty. He teaches physics, aero-dynamics, and sponsors the aviator's club.

ALL ABOARD DESTINATION MOON!

Science has always been a major department at Northwest Classen. Equipped with spacious classrooms, laboratories, and lecture rooms this department has consistently contributed outstanding students to state colleges. The annual Science Fair research projects have gained wide recognition for young scientists' experiments.

For those not planning to follow a career in science, biology and plant life introduces them to scientific analysis.

Crayfish and frogs fall victims to dissecting knives as sophomores spleen and squeam at learning the story of circulation of blood.

Next-door neighbors in the biology department, Mrs. Geraldine Busbee and Miss Lucille Taylor, experiment with various commercial products. Plant study is only a small segment of their courses.

TV invades the classroom! Mr. Lawrence Crouse, and secretary, Mrs. Mary Hankey, tune in a science lecture program for an oversized Science TV class of beginners.

That dreamed of position on the SHIELD staff leads Auxiliary Journalism students to learn the who, what, where, when, and why of newspapering. Mrs. Nevva Sartin, director, and Shelly Safdi, SHIELD editor, explain make-up to Sonny Childers, M. Ford, L. Baumgarner, L. Richards, J. Cheeves, and J. Brodell. Row II: S. Peter, M. Nichols, B. McQueen, S. Riley, S. Musallam, C. Jackson, P. Railey, G. Allen, and P. Williams.

"Good Morning," chirps Shelley Safdi, SHIELD co-editor, beside that cheery lion each morning. This is Shelley's fourth year of J.

Judi Anderson, co-editor, is also Oklahoma Times stringer, OCIPA reporter, and was Inkslingers' queen candidate.

Sue Hinchey, business manager, keeps advertising patrons and auditors straight. This often tests her patience but proves her ability.

SHIELD advertising manager, Marie Hinshaw, received one of two national advertising awards from CSPA for her work in 1959.

SHIELD staffers work hard to perfect a paper 2,000 students will read. Pushing to beat a deadline becomes second nature to Lanita Mims, John Mason, Galen Henegan, Jeanette Reeves, Wally Kamp, and Dianne Chapman. Listening to photographer, Buck Savage explain techniques of photography are Mickey Coley and Steve Enders, sports editors.

Yearbook demands hard labor. Overtime pay for weekends and vacation work comes when bleary-eyed, staffers gather at Sussy's and celebrate having made a deadline. Row I: J. Croom, C. Hast, J. Volz, W. Kalmon, V. Mock. Row II: K. Hallmark, A. Smith, J. Hively, S. Hall, N. Culbert, L. Kimberlin, and T. Knott.

Mrs. Nevva Sartin, director of student publications, is known to most everyone in Knightland as "SARGE."

AT LEAST, WE LEARNED TO COUNT!

Communications is a wide field with new promises. As student journalists, staff members of the SHIELD and ROUND TABLE feel they have been a significant part in making Knightland history as well as recording it. The privilege of service to others brings satisfaction for the hard work and pressure of deadlines. Qualities of responsibility, accuracy, dependability, and self reliance developed in journalistic endeavors are invaluable in all future pursuits.

Expenses of student publications brushed $11,000 this year. This was raised by subscriptions and advertising. Publications packet sales reached 1750, or 87 per cent of the total enrollment.

Top state and national ratings at the close of four years total nineteen.

Veteran yearbook staffers, (top picture), J. Bednar, N. Culbert, A. Smith, V. Auer, and J. Keys, spent summer-time days planning the 1960 Round Table. The '60 book was enlarged to 200 pages with 16 pages of color.

BEHIND THRONE POWERS

Mrs. Lauretta Stauffer, secretary to Mr. J. Frank Malone, principal

Mrs. Nancy Treichler, secretary to Mr. Jack A. Roblyer, assistant principal

Mrs. Nola Moore, Nurse

Mrs. Doris Taylor, Financial Secretary

Mrs. Delma Harris, Attendance Recorder

Our future is in the hands of the secretaries! This hardworking corps checks attendance, answers anxious parents' distress calls, keeps accounts straight, takes fees, compiles permanent records of tests and grades, sends out transcripts, and keeps the wheels of administrative detail running smoothly twelve months of the year.

They are also the individuals who strike fear in our hearts with office call slips. But they go to no end of trouble to get us out of trouble if there's an attendance error, or grade mix-up. They man the switchboard from 7:30 a.m. until long after school so that student stragglers may have a way to call home.

No one underrates the part these Knightlanders play in the overall scheme of Northwest Classen.

Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton, Registrar

Mrs. Mary Hanky, Instructional Assistant

Mrs. Kathryn Lott, Team Secretary

Mrs. Eulita Griffin, Team Secretary

Pre-school conferences afford teachers an opportunity to greet old friends and meet new ones.

"I'll meet you at the mail-box." Many, and strange things arrive via teachers' mail-boxes.

Loyal patron, Mrs. Gordon Ervin, eases the strain of the August, pre-school conference by officiating at a coffee break.

A study in contrasts—8 a.m. VS 5 p.m. Signing in VS signing out. Same day. Same people. Same clock. But, oh, the difference!!!

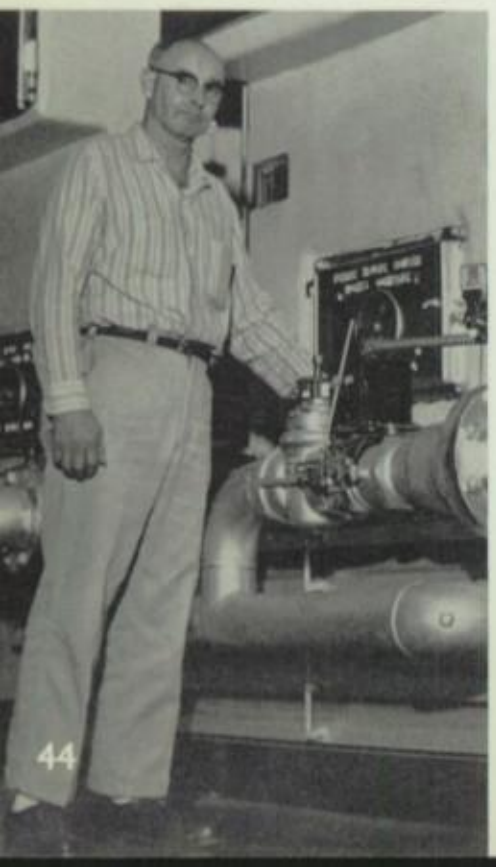
Mr. Ivan Beeson, head custodian, and Mr. R. J. Pennington, assistant, annually distribute some 300 keys to the 81 faculty members. Teachers and keys give them many headaches. Keys usually know where they are, but have a peculiar way of not letting a distressed teacher know their whereabouts.

Competent custodians, divided into day and night shifts, keep some 18 miles of corridors and walks spotless. Grounds are kept clean of carelessly tossed candy and gum wrappers and waste paper.

Breathes there a Knight in NWC Knightland who isn't proud of his school? Each likes the bright reflection of his image in the sparkling display windows and the lounge mirrors. Mr. Ivan Beeson, and Mr. R. J. Pennington, are tireless in their efforts to keep a competent staff of custodians.

How would you like to return to the lunch-basket-brigade? Cold boiled eggs and a bologna sandwich? Hot meals at school are a luxury in many ways. For some, lunch is the only hot meal of the day. Mrs. Katherine Price and her 23 helpers prepare food for some 2000 students each day, and wash the dishes afterward!

These people we would really miss if their services halted for even one day. For teachers there are substitutes, but custodians and the cafeteria staff are vital personnel not readily replaced if absent.



Baking 50-60 pies, 1,000 rolls, and 700 cookies each day is the job of Mrs. Katherine Price, cafeteria manager, and her staff.

Mr. Floyd Smith, engineer, is kept busy in the boiler room trying to keep a hundred rooms a hundred different temperatures.

CHARGERS CREATE COLORFUL MOMENT

Anticipation ranged high as Knights and Ladies awaited appearance of the purple and gold mystery riders. Jan Nay and David Nay, on mantled steeds, raced around the track preceding each gridiron battle. Jan, senior, was awarded a trophy for her three years of participation in this spirit rousing prelude. Knights value her valiant service.

LANCERS SPUR SPIRIT

Above the tumult, of loyal Knights cheering battling Knights, is heard, "Wham! Bam! Rickety-ree, Lancers, Lancers, Yes sir-ree!"

Some 175 boys from all ranks of Knightland identify themselves with the Lancer Pep Club. When clubs reorganized and chose new names, upon coming to our new school, this group found the meaning of Lancer fit their purpose. Lancers were recognized defenders, always ready to aid a Knight.

The club initiated 72 new members, after four weeks of 'duc' training, this fall. Mr. Billy Hughes was named sponsor to assist Mr. Charles Hale, and Mr. Sidney Ohmart.

Mr. Malone, Knightland principal, spoke at the annual inductee dinner for pledges, faculty friends, and families.

Debra Ayers, Gerry Baker, Judy Croom, Sara Jo Freeny, and Lynne Swain were '59-'60 Queen candidates. Gerry received the honor. Coronation ceremonies featured the annual Christmas formal.

Pep Clubs do more than generate spirit for sports. They contribute to molding new school policies, launching civic pride, and carrying the ball in social service projects.

MISS GERRY BAKER, LANCER QUEEN

"Practice makes perfect." After about fifty shines per 'duc', per hour, during pledge season, 'ducs' agree membership holds promises of brighter days. 'Duc' of the year, Jerry Bowerman, decides it wasn't so bad as he puts the finishing touch on pledge master, Dale Todd's shoes. Joe Ratway plugs away shining Russ McNew's loafers.

CORONET YELL INSPIRES WIN

Coronet Pep Club has built a reputation of never lacking vim, vigor, or dependability. Sidelight on first semester activities was the bus trip to aid the Knights in their season open at Amarillo, Texas. Second semester, traditionally, finds plans for the annual banquet which honors basketball players dominating Coronet activities.

The name Coronet was chosen because of its association with sovereignty in days of Knighthood. Coronets were small crowns worn as a mark of rank.

Memorable '59-'60 activity was decorating cars for the football contest with Norman's Tigers to decide the AA state football title. Preparing pep rally capers affords fun. Social service is an interesting part of club activities.

Saluting the American flag is an important part of pep rallies. The colorful pep sections make an inspiring sight reciting the pledge.

FALCONS FLY HIGH

Falcon is a familiar name to Northwest Classen Knights and Ladies. Falcons, hunting birds of Medieval Times, were remarkable for ability to soar high and always capture game. Confronted with finding a new name at a new school, former Blue Jackets chose Falcons in keeping with royalty customs of English Knights.

Pledge season found 59 new members being initiated at the annual installation dinner. Bob Flournoy, well known newscaster, was guest speaker at the October 27 affair, in the social center.

December 18 marked the 1959 high point in Falcon social activities with coronation of Karen Owen, club queen. Johnny Rose, president, did the honors and presented Karen with a white coat bearing the Falcon legend, and a commemorative necklace. All candidates attending Karen at the festival, Beth Gimlin, Jobella James, Janet Keller, and Kay Tatum, received necklaces. The club paddle, token of supreme authority over members, passed to the reigning queen.

Social and community drives always find Falcons busy. Chips for Polio enlisted their efforts and campus parking space markings were repainted. Annual spring formal honoring graduating seniors was May 14, 1960.

MISS KAREN OWEN, FALCON QUEEN

Regular officers meetings are a necessity for advancement of the Falcon Pep Club. Ideas are brought before the group to increase interest in sports, and fun in membership. Seated left to right: Mike McMains, junior secretary; Kip Kirkhuff, inductee chairman; Wally Kamp, parliamentarian; Steve Sherman, sergeant at arms; Johnny Rose, president; Mike Gregory, secretary; Jerry Bednar, vice president; Jack Fleming, sergeant at arms; Jim Leech, pep council representative; Glen Griggs, sergeant at arms. Standing: Dan Adams, chaplain; Bob Imle, treasurer. Officer positions develop qualities of leadership and service to others.

The Falcon flag features fabled figures from early Knighthood lore. Pep club banners make an exciting display at pep rallies.

CYGNET CAPERS CAPTIVATE

Smiles probably show approval of plans for next meeting. Cygnet officers are: Row I: Jerelyn Davis, cheerleader; Janet Ketchum, sergeant at arms. Row II: Beth Gimlin, vice president; Trisha Young, president; Gerry Baker, parliamentarian. Row III: Jean Bainbridge, treasurer; Judy Ketchum, historian; Betty Klaffke, secretary; Carol Pitzer, sergeant at arms; Linda Lawson, cheerleader; Marsha Points, sergeant at arms. Row IV: Glenda Lou Donnell, assistant secretary; Billie Matthews, cheerleader.

"Listen, Knights, and listen well, Cygnets have some wares to sell." This was the early cry of Cygnet Pep Club members. They began the new year with a bake sale to raise money to lower cost of members' assessments for the annual banquet honoring football players. An innovation this year saw letter jackets given Mr. Malone, principal, and Dr. Holden, team physician.

Cygnet pepsters can really yell. With 350 girls screaming their hearts and lungs out to spur a Knight team to victory, this is not hard to believe. Cygnets take pride in being present at all of the tournaments of skill in which Northwest Classen Knights compete with other teams of the countryside.

Webster defines the word "cygnet" as a "young swan." Cygnets graced castle moats adding beauty and serenity to the scene. This is the goal to which Northwest Classen Cygnet members aspire. A girl can be attractive, but, without kindness and helpfulness, beauty goes unnoticed.

Members usher at concerts and the theatre. Social service projects and civic drives get their attention.

THINGS WE DO

Knights and Ladies love to congregate. Be it a language club, art league, hobby group, or honor society, common interests knit Knightlanders closer together.

Members obligate themselves to uphold traditions worthy of knightly service.

Knightland ideals feature unselfish giving of time and talent to carry on club programs. This ability to contribute to overall welfare builds a sense of leadership useful in later life.

Perpetuating old clubs builds loyalty. Creating new ones stimulates pride. In both, Knights and Ladies leave something of themselves in heritage to their school and strengthen the meaning of ALMA MATER.

Best of luck next year and work hard.

OATHS, ORDERS, OUTLETS

Banners, well loved in Knightland, are unfurled by Dale Todd, pledge master of Lancers; Trisha Young, president of Cygnets; Johnny Rose, president of Falcons; and Becky Davis, president of Coronets.

Seventy Student Council representatives, and officers, busily jot notes as they listen to president, Stan Harrison explain proposals for a SC project. Each member must keep orderly notes. These are submitted as evidence that he has served his position satisfactorily.

Names of members of National Honor Society are placed on a scroll within a plaque which is displayed in the trophy case.

Main activities are the fall and spring initiations and socials. This year the first State Convention for National Honor Societies convened in Guthrie. Jay McCain, Judy Sims, and Phillip Teets represented Northwest Classen's chapter. Phillip served on a panel for scholarship; Judy was chairman of the discussion panel, "Should National Honor Society be an honor organization only?"

This year our school was honored by visits from two prominent national officers. Mr. Paul Elicker, national secretary, whose signature appears on each membership card, was here in November, and Dr. Colburn Hooton, national director of National Honor Societies, was luncheon guest in December.

Sponsors include Miss Audrey Alberts, Mrs. Geraldine Buzbee, Mrs. Ruth Warram, Miss Katherine Gibson, Mrs. Maxine Tyler, Miss Henrietta Von Tungeln, Miss Lucille Taylor, Mrs. Wilma Bird, Mrs. Ramah Miller, and Mrs. Madge Mills.

QUILL AND SCROLL established a Book of the Month Review Club. Journalists and artists met monthly for Sunday book chats. Pasternak's Doctor Zhivago, Miller's The Crucible, Milton's Areopagitica, stories of operas, and philosophy were discussed. Combining activities with Harding high school promoted inter-school relationships and kept chapters active.

Initiations were held at the beginning of each semester for juniors and seniors with a B average enrolled in newspaper, yearbook, art, and creative writing.

Officers were Sue Hinchey, president; Shelley Safdi, vice president; Judy Croom, recording secretary; Marie Hinshaw, executive secretary; Judy Keys, treasurer; Judi Anderson, reporter; Lanita Mims, scrapbook chairman; Nancy Culbert, chaplain; Steve Enders, parliamentarian. KNIGHT LIFE

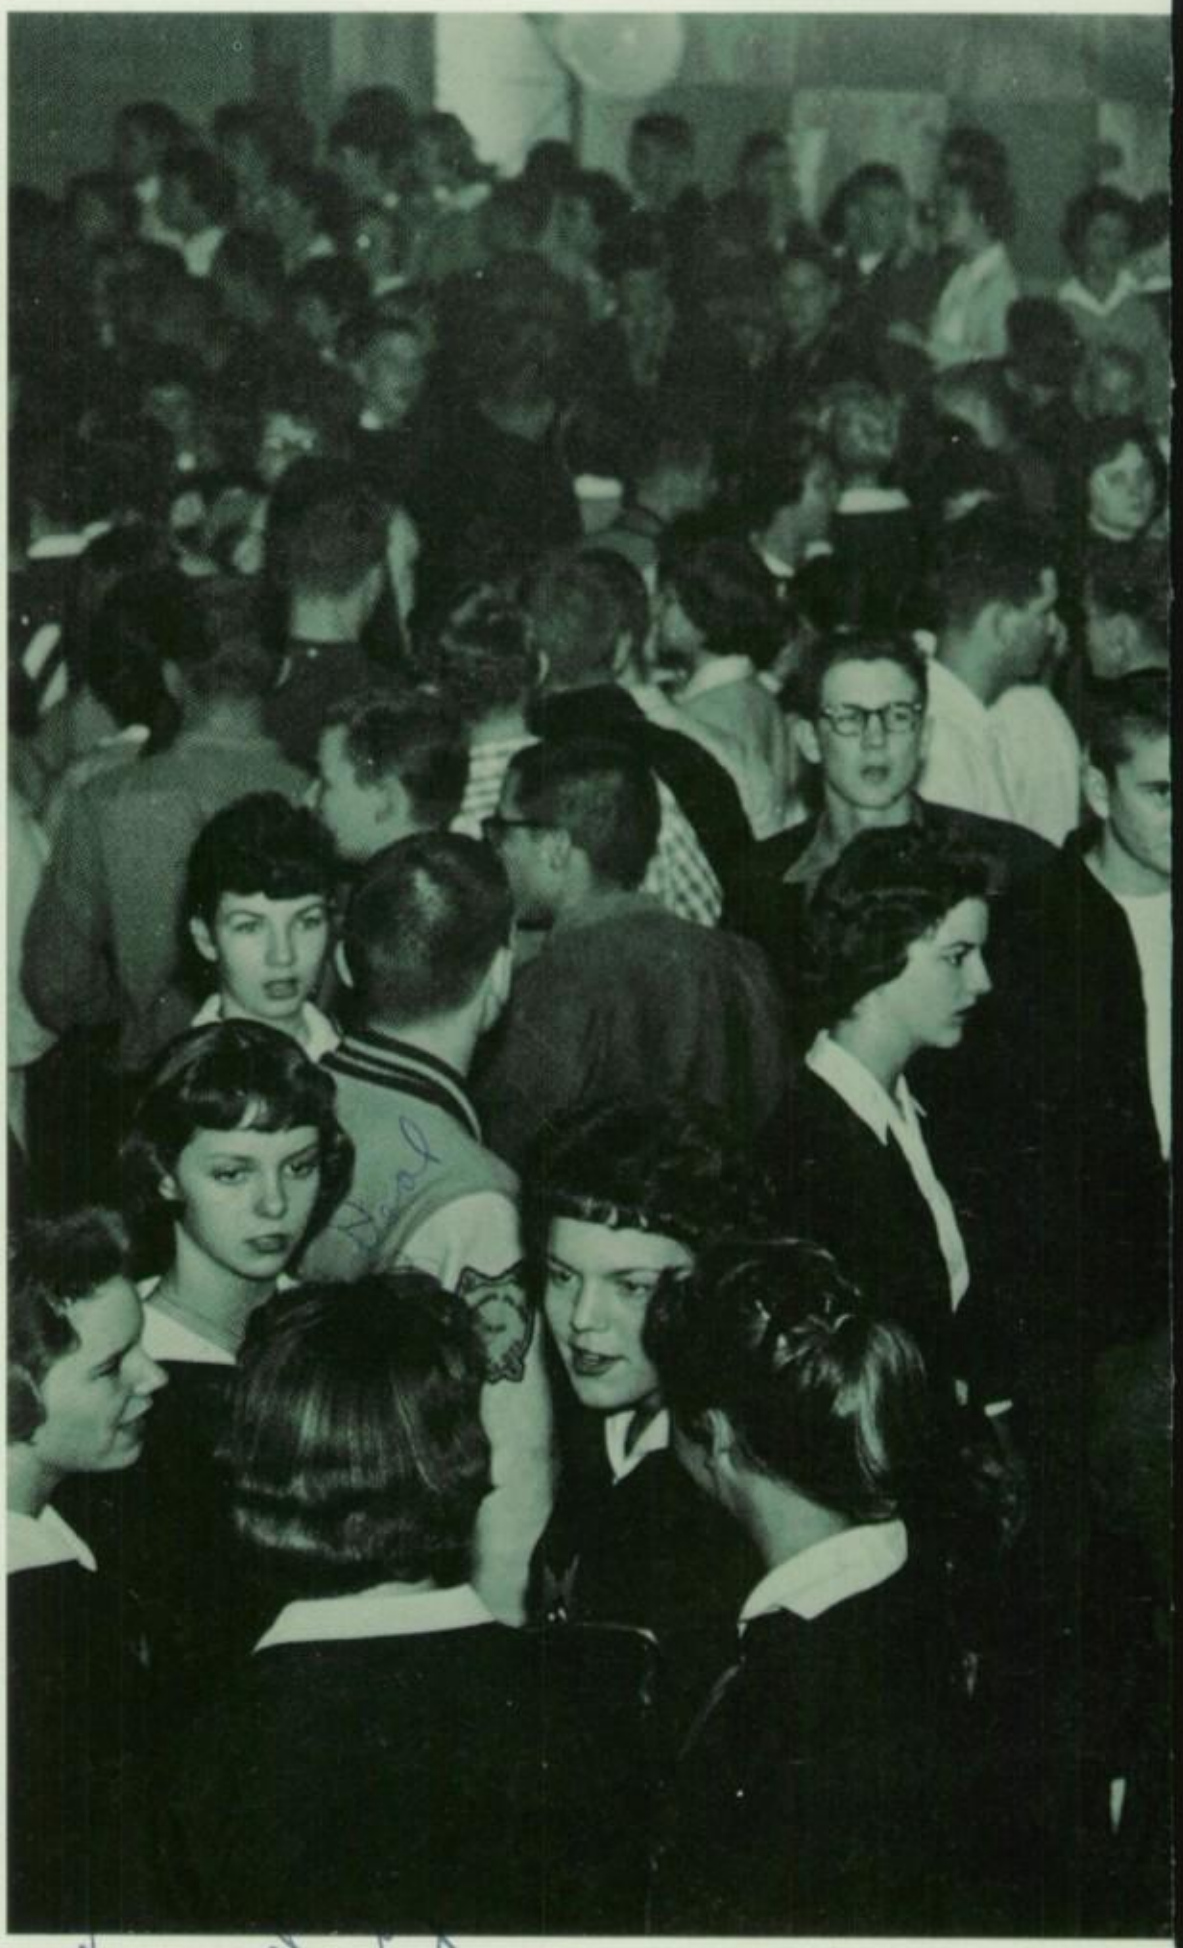
From the jester's cup suspenseful gaiety sprinkles amid courtly conduct that accompanies attainment of learning. These enlivened moments shine through with a glow that will remain in Knight hearts.

Some are remembered by only a few, others by all. Do you remember Knightland Royal Beauties chosen and crowned in anticipation and fervor? Dances and victory parties that were prominent in the 1959-60 social stir? School spirit, revived in every pep rally? Classics gaining a repeat score as a distinctive variety show? Merit and scholarship recognized for high standards of achievement.

These moments pass, but as recalled, the cup is overflowing.



Ellen - I have really had a lot of fun knowing you all these years. We have been friends a long time now & I hope we will continue to be as ever after graduation. Best of luck always.
Lucky Loving

DOINGS AND DOERS

Victory parties restored normal heart action following rousing Knightland fêtes on field or court. These happy times we shall remember. Valiant Knights cheerfully refuted weariness.

Nancy Teague

ROUND TABLE QUEEN

Highest honor bestowed upon a Lady of Knightland is Round Table Queen. This is the only school wide nomination among queenships. Winner is not disclosed until coronation ceremonies which coincide with distribution of yearbooks. The Queen and her Court host the Signature Swing, an event which, more-or-less, climaxes the year.

SPORTS QUEEN

Gloria Tracy and Stan Harrison, Student President.

First royalty named each year is Sports Queen. Five girls are nominated by members of Boys O Club and voted on by the entire school. Candidates and Campaign managers in '59 were Kathy Schoenhals—Joe Wilson; Sandy Sawvell—Rick Dunlevy; Gloria Tracy—Tom Ward; Janet Johnson—Bill Snipes; Charlyne Ryland—Lynn Loveless.

FRIENDSHIP ASKS NO FAVORS

Brent Buchanan—Kathleen Schoenhals

Margo Miller and Faye Schoenhals look on with admiration as Brent Buchanan presents the crown of Friendship to Kathleen Schoenhals.

Everyone knows we are heading toward spring when the Knight and Lady of Friendship contest is announced. Purpose of this school-wide election is to select a boy and a girl from the senior class who typify the Northwest Classen spirit of friendship and congeniality. Ten finalists, five boys and five girls, are chosen by vote of the entire student body.

This ceremony established three years ago is to become a Knightland tradition. Previous winners were Jo Pender and Jim Earnest in '58; Kipp Ketchum and Gary London in '59. Winners names are engraved on a gold loving cup. When completed, the cup will be a record of the Knights and Ladies of Friendship for 20 years.

Kathleen Schoenhals dubs Brent Buchanan Knight of Friendship. Bill Hill, guardian of the blade, will sheath the sword for future years.

Tom Ward—Judy Wagner; and Charlyne Ryland—Mike Miller, Knight and Lady Friendship nominees.

VIVAT REGINA!

Sports Queen Court with Gloria Tracy reigning is augmented by athlete representatives from each competitive, lettered sport. Queen nominees become Princesses of various sports and receive small loving cups to memorialize the event.

"I JUST CAN'T BELIEVE IT!", cries Karen Owen, 1960 Falcon Queen, as escort, Steve Sherman assures her it's true. With Karen are Barry Benefield, Janet Keller, queen candidate, and escort, Jerry Bednar. Announcer is John Rose, president.

Karen Owen received the traditional Falcon Crown from president, John Rose.

PERSONALITY PROFITABLE

Karen, as guardian of the official Falcon Queen paddle, will reign over the pep club.

Gerry Baker, 1960 Lancer Queen, dons official jacket presented her by Joe Wallace, president.

Dedication of the fountain in the spring of '59 marked another step in beautification of our patio. Central figure is a bronze bust of a plumed knight, mounted on a mosiac base of blue and gold tile. Combined funds from senior classes and Classics made the Bronze Knight a reality.

HIGHLIGHT EVENTS

Distinguished visitors, Dr. Paul Elicker, and Dr. Ellsworth Thompkins, of National Association of Secondary Principals, commended our school for outstanding citizenship. Introducing them is Beth Gimlin, assembly chairman.

They said it couldn't be done—but we did it! Kathleen Schoenhals, student council historian, tucks happy headlines into the school scrap book.

CLASSICS, '60, — "OFF GUARD!"

Classics Executive Boards, hub of Classics, annual all-school talent production, is composed of committee heads, act directors, and officers, guided by faculty sponsors. Members write, organize, and prepare the show for rehearsals. Originality and responsibility are essential qualifications for membership.

Activities of the Board are highly confidential, and theme of the show is a guarded secret until time to release publicity. This demands that persons selected for positions be trustworthy.

Theme of the 1960 show, which will go on the 28, 29, 30 of April, is "OFF GUARD!"

Faculty sponsors, guiding power behind Classics, meet to approve acts. Left to right, Miss Mary Lamb Lewis, Mr. V. E. Caldwell, Miss Kathleen Owen, Mr. Ted Nichols. Seated, Mrs. Winnie Murray, Mrs. Ollie Pitts, Mrs. Nevva Sartin.

Smiling while they work, student members of the Classics Executive Board discuss a day's agenda. Deliberations are frequently drawn out. Pushing the project through without animosities developing requires patience and tact.

DIVERSIONS! EXCURSIONS! CONVERSIONS!

Pep band members, under the direction of Earl Hefley and Mr. Art Johnson, play enthusiastically at all pep assemblies.

"Touchdown!" Charlyne Ryland, Carol Hodam, Marilyn Barnett, Janet Johnson, and Phyllene Kimsey, cheerleaders, help us tell the team how much we appreciate their efforts.

Girls! Your hair! But rooters must be glamorous despite a 300-mile bus trip to see the football season opener at Amarillo, Texas.

No vacation for tireless yearbook staffers. They met regularly during summer vacation that they might meet ROUND TABLE deadlines.

Thirty-minute lunch periods pass quickly this way.

Mr. Roblyer, assistant principal, presides over the morning announcements. This a.m. Carol Pitzer and Jim Loftis did the student announcements. Steve Garman is CSS engineer.

"An apple for the teacher," featured National Education Week. Beth West, Mr. Malone, Mr. Smelser and Mr. Conger partake of this PTSA treat.

"Fire!" Bob Leake helped Deanna Elliot extinguish her flaming baton.

In the Christmas assembly, Knights presented exchange student Dorothea Heinrich money for a long-distance phone call home. Dorothea, from Berlin, was surprised and grateful. Larry Stearns made the presentation.

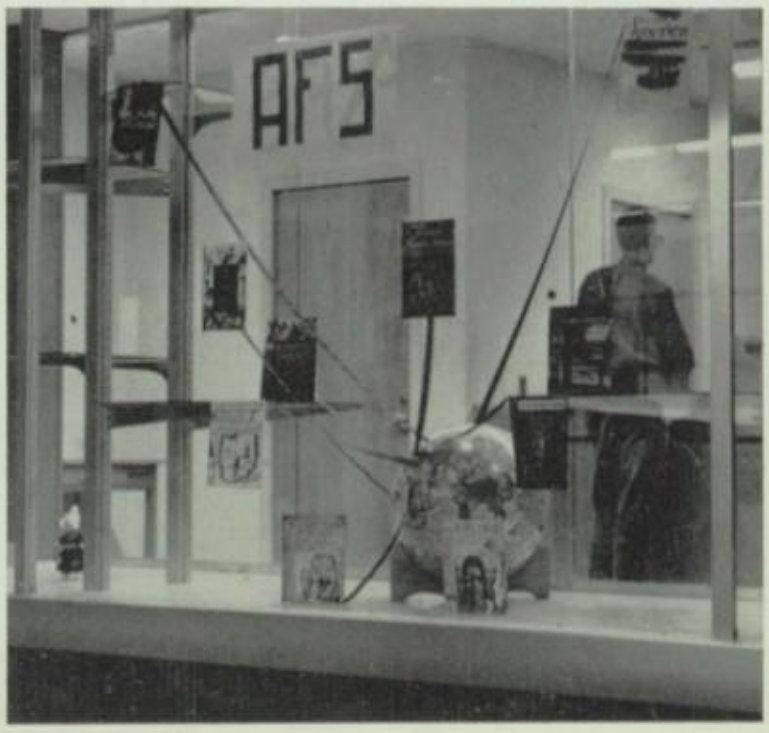
Sandy Ellis, '59 AFS student shares souvenirs from Berlin with AFS candidates Karen Owen, Janet Keller and Beth Gimlin.

AFS SEEKS PEACE

AFS strives to promote world peace by student exchange among countries. This program is aided by funds raised by mixers, paper drives, Sadie Hawkins Week, and Western Day.

"We'll never forget our student from Holland." To prove it we sent Joan Streef, '58-'59 exchange student a letter some 20 feet long.

To stimulate interest in the American Field Service program, a window display in Student Store featured books of world-wide origin.



Cheerleaders, Marilyn Barnett, Carol Hodam, Phyllene Kimsey, Carla Kise, Charlyne Ryland, and Judy Wagner with Janet Johnson are as proud of the All-State trophy as was the team. These girls hold highest honors in cheerleading circles. Champions know practice makes perfect.

Ellen—
I have enjoyed your friendship these past few years, you have upheld N.W. week. I'll see you
up you at O.U.
Best wishes,
Judy

SPIRIT SOARS

Undefeated! Knightland's '59 football season will be long remembered as topping Capitol Hill's long reign as undefeated State Champs; for future Northwest teams, a goal to equal. Pom poms and high-strung spirits soared into the frost-bitten air as the last minutes of the State play-off game between Northwest Classen Knights and Norman Tigers ticked off. Final score, 16-14!

Majorettes Nancy Hill, Deanna Elliot, Rae Ours, Gloria Tracy, Nancy McNew, and Barbara Dorney, donned top hats and tails for their pep rally routine before Norman game.

Rex Irwin, head football coach, demonstrates the technique used by Knights to annihilate the Norman Tigers.

High spirited fans who packed Taft Stadium, November 27, got their money's worth, watching our Knights defeat Norman for the All-State title.

This is our football coach? Geri Page, Sue Musallam, and Mr. Rex Irwin, work diligently stringing popcorn for their homeroom Christmas party.

Counting calories, Linda? Linda Lawson and Ruth Chamberland pause before Christmas goodies brought to Miss Audie Albert's homeroom Christmas party.

HOLIDAY HAZE

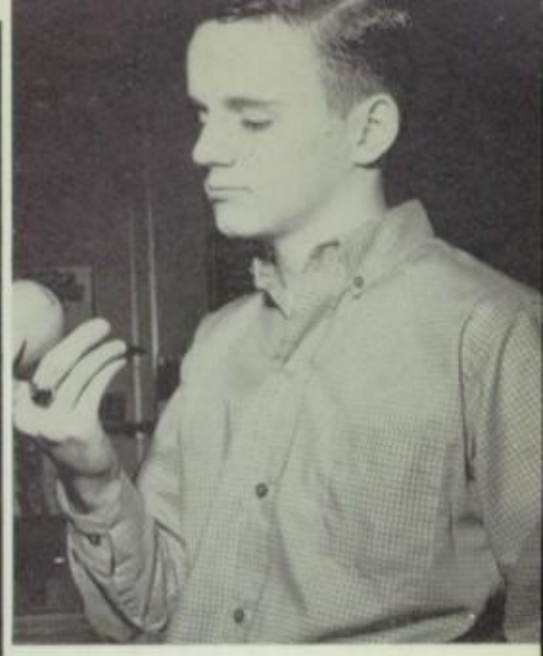
Combined efforts of Mr. Paul Crowe, Mr. Clayton Davis, Mr. Rex Irwin, Mr. Don Van Pool, and Mr. Jerry Haynes, coaching staff, brought glory to Knightland. Cygnet pep club members honor football players at an annual banquet.

Portraying what they think takes place in a locker room are Cygents, K. Bainbridge, S. Ellis, J. Croom, A. Singletary, L. Swain, K. Hardin, M. Whytlaw.

This reverent manger scene was witnessed by all at our annual Christmas assembly. L. to R., Ronnie Hudson, Mike Buckwald, Karen Knott, John Rose, Mark Coleman.

Annually freshmen line up for the "Smile Contest." Dentists check for dental perfection. Winners enter state competition.

Queen of Smiles was Denise Dunham.



Tom Sieber was King of Smiles.

Oklahoma City's Art Center, State Fairgrounds, scene of National Art Honor Society's initiation.

Larry Stearns, Jack Butler, Ralph Steeds, Marion Nance, Carolyn Brooks, Chris Booth, and Barbara Butterworth admire exhibits in the Art Center.

"Hiawatha," Longfellow's eternally fascinating classic, was feature of English department November display.

A 13,000 volume library provides Knightland with resources and materials on all major topics.

For four years Janice and David Nay have provided spectators a colorful moment of romance as they galloped around the arena in regal array. In recognition of loyalty, Jan, who graduates in May, was presented a loving cup.

Homecoming Mixer and All-State victory coincided. Unbounded glee keynoted the happy affair.

CROWNING MOMENTS

Celebrations which spark Knightland spirit vary from athletics to dramatics. Greek tragedy and English comedy tested this year's histronic abilities. Medea and The Importance of Being Earnest were first semester all-school theatericals. A record high spirit was evident at the never-to-be-forgotten Northwest and Norman football game which decided All-State Football Champs.

Mike Barkett, president of Alumni Association, presided at '59-'60 Homecoming.

Mid-State cross-country winners were honored in pep assembly. Mr. Leonard Marcotte, coach, presented Mr. Malone the trophy awarded the team.

"Howdy!" Mixer greets new students and teachers. Miss Kathleen Owen greets David Howell.

Excellent dressing room and make-up facilities encourage drama students to study theatrical make-up. Doing Nancy Norton for role is Sandra Wallace, Carolyn Ashabranner, and Marvin Kincaid.

Just why being 'Earnest' was so important is finally solved as leading characters rejoice in the last scene of the Oscar Wilde comedy. Cast included Joe McCord, Kay Hardin, Jim Leech, Nancy Norton, Bill Alspaugh, Liz Mann, Johnny Rose, Barry Benefield, and Sandy Ellis.

In Medea, first all-school play this year, K. Kay Brandes, as Medea, pleads with Hershel Lamirand, as Jason, to return to her. (Above) Larry Crouse, son of Mr. L. E. Crouse, faculty, added a winsome touch to Medea. Depicting a tutor is Scotty Foster.

How not to impress your future mother-in-law is demonstrated to the horror of Sandy Ellis by Johnny Rose in this rib-tickling scene from The Importance of Being Earnest.

Behind-the-scenes staff of The Importance of Being Earnest take a bow. There's more to a play than the audience beholds coming across the footlights.

"I want a ghoul," warbles Kirk Hagan, Prince of Hades, and he got one! Kirk and Patte Jackman form a distorted duo in Underworld scene of '59 Classics.

"No! There really are two sets of identical twins." Janet and Judy Ketchum, and Ralph and Robert Severson scored a Classic hit with their song, "Sisters."

"But I can't see with this thing on," protests Mike Reeves. Kelly Miles, hindsection of the donkey, gets a rest during rehearsal.

HARD WORK MAKES

Classics is a word with special meaning in Northwest Classen Knightland. When we mention Classics we usually refer to the annual all-school extravaganza presented each spring. Hours of gruelling composition demanding the perfectly suited word with an exact meaning precede detailed planning, rehearsing, costuming and staging the show. Opening night brings a few bobbles, but a capacity house of appreciative and responsive fans quiets cast anxieties. Classics enjoys a three night run of drama, music, comedy, and dance. Talent presented is the best available in the departments represented. Final approval of all performers rests with faculty directors.

"It's Cold Outside!" In the polar regions, Martha Miller and Rex Kennard don't seem to mind as they figure skate in Classics '59.

"Pharoah approaches." This colorful Egyptian scene, in Classics '59, was dominated by a huge gold idol.

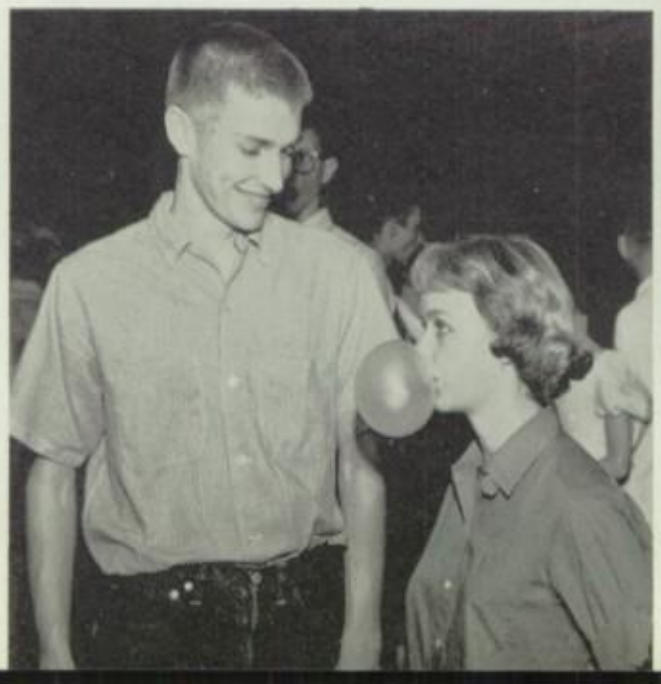
"Whoops! Something's slipping, girls." This comic ballet from Act One in Classics '59 made even rehearsal-weary cast members laugh.

Angel, Hershel Lamirand, comforts Happy Miller with "Thank Heaven for Little Girls" in Act Three '59 Classics.

CLASSICS UNFORGETTABLE

Topsy—Part Two! David McCarty and Lynda Marchman created a striking duet with their dance in black and white of Classics '59.

Phyllis Klein and Randy Roark are happy, but David McCarty? They formed a South Seas trio in Classics '59.



Suzanne Thompson has a novel way of releasing her tensions. David Howell watches as they enjoy the Classics cast party.

Classics is over—Hurray! Happy cast party revelers relax after a three-night run. Joe Bailey looks as if he must have gone through the mill.

Memories fade, but pictures prevail. Drama and suspense of ROUND TABLE Queen Coronation is re-enacted every year with new faces but old traditions.

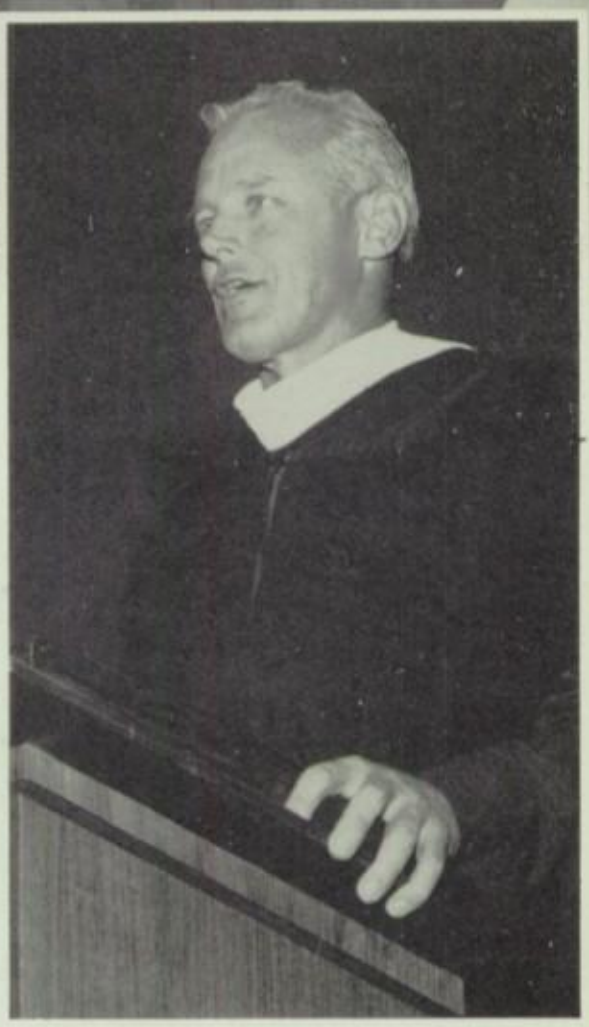
"Take State! Take State!" Purple uniforms topped with yellow pom poms made an attractive pep section for the Norman game, November 27.

WE'LL REMEMBER ALWAYS . . .

Festive spirits dominate Junior-Senior Prom. "We could have danced all night," echoed long after the dance ended.

"Whose book am I signing?" Yearbooks go from hand to hand at the annual Signature Swing in the Social Center. ROUND TABLE Queen candidates and journalism students host the affair. Some 1600 Knights and Ladies jammed the '59 session which features DJ's from KOCY.

Pre-commencement activities include a farewell assembly. Tradition of the ceremony is "passing of the sword." Senior class president passes the symbolic sword to president of the junior class.



Mr. Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, successful mentor of University of Oklahoma's Big Red, was speaker for '59 Senior Class Commencement.

Traditional graduation theme song, "Pomp and Circumstance", accompanies the final rites of seniors assembled to receive diplomas.

Mr. Rex Irwin, senior sponsor, makes sure seniors know graduation procedures before actual ceremony.

This is a familiar scene in closing days of every school year. Graduates confidentally swish about enjoying their hour of status.

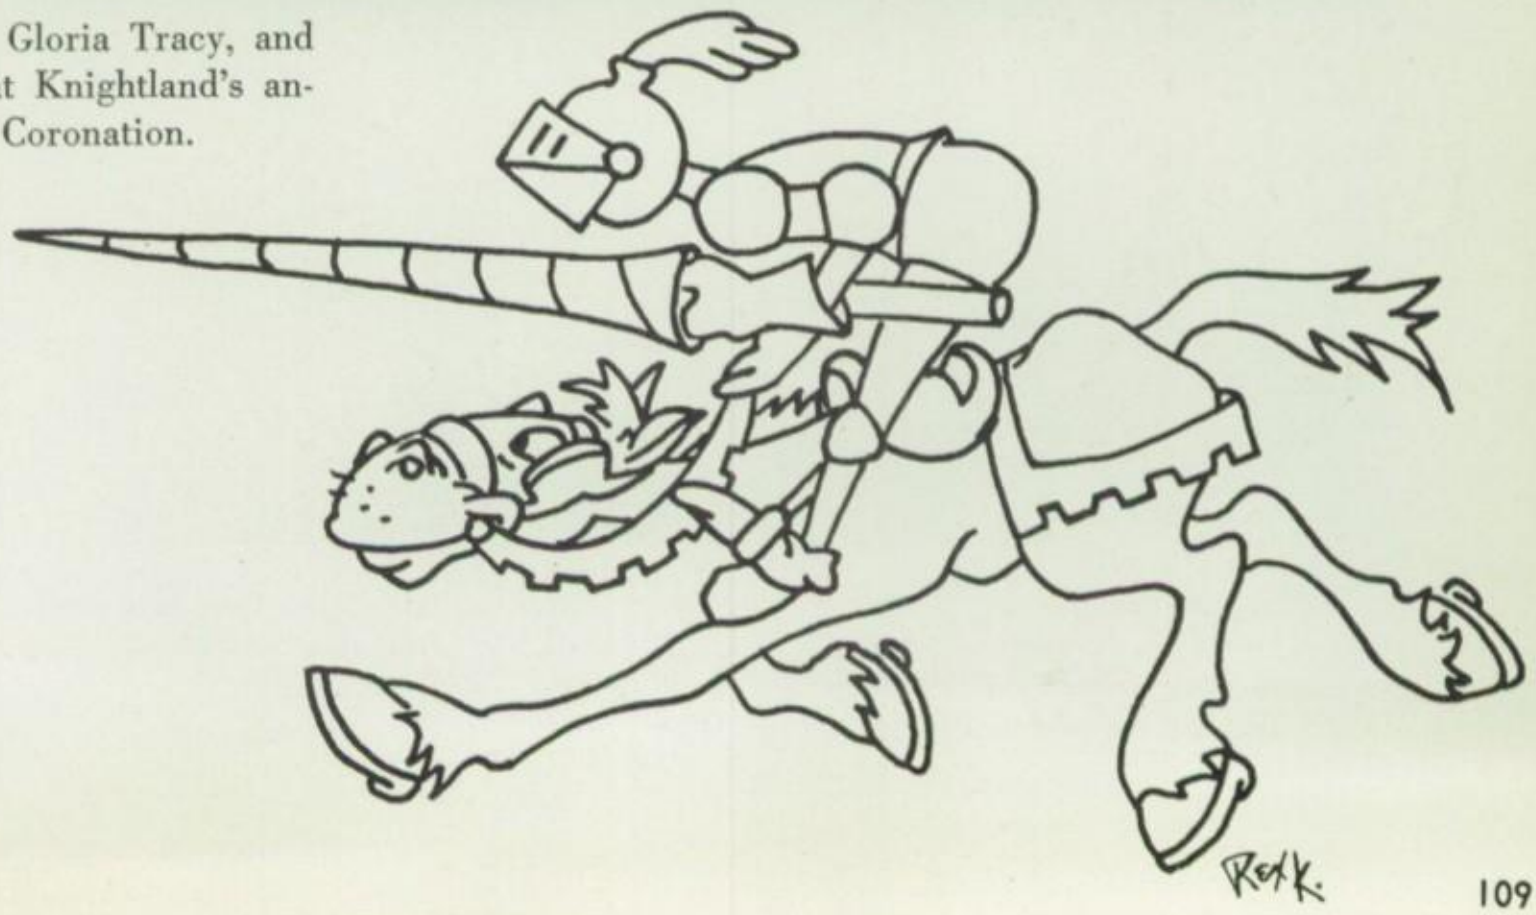
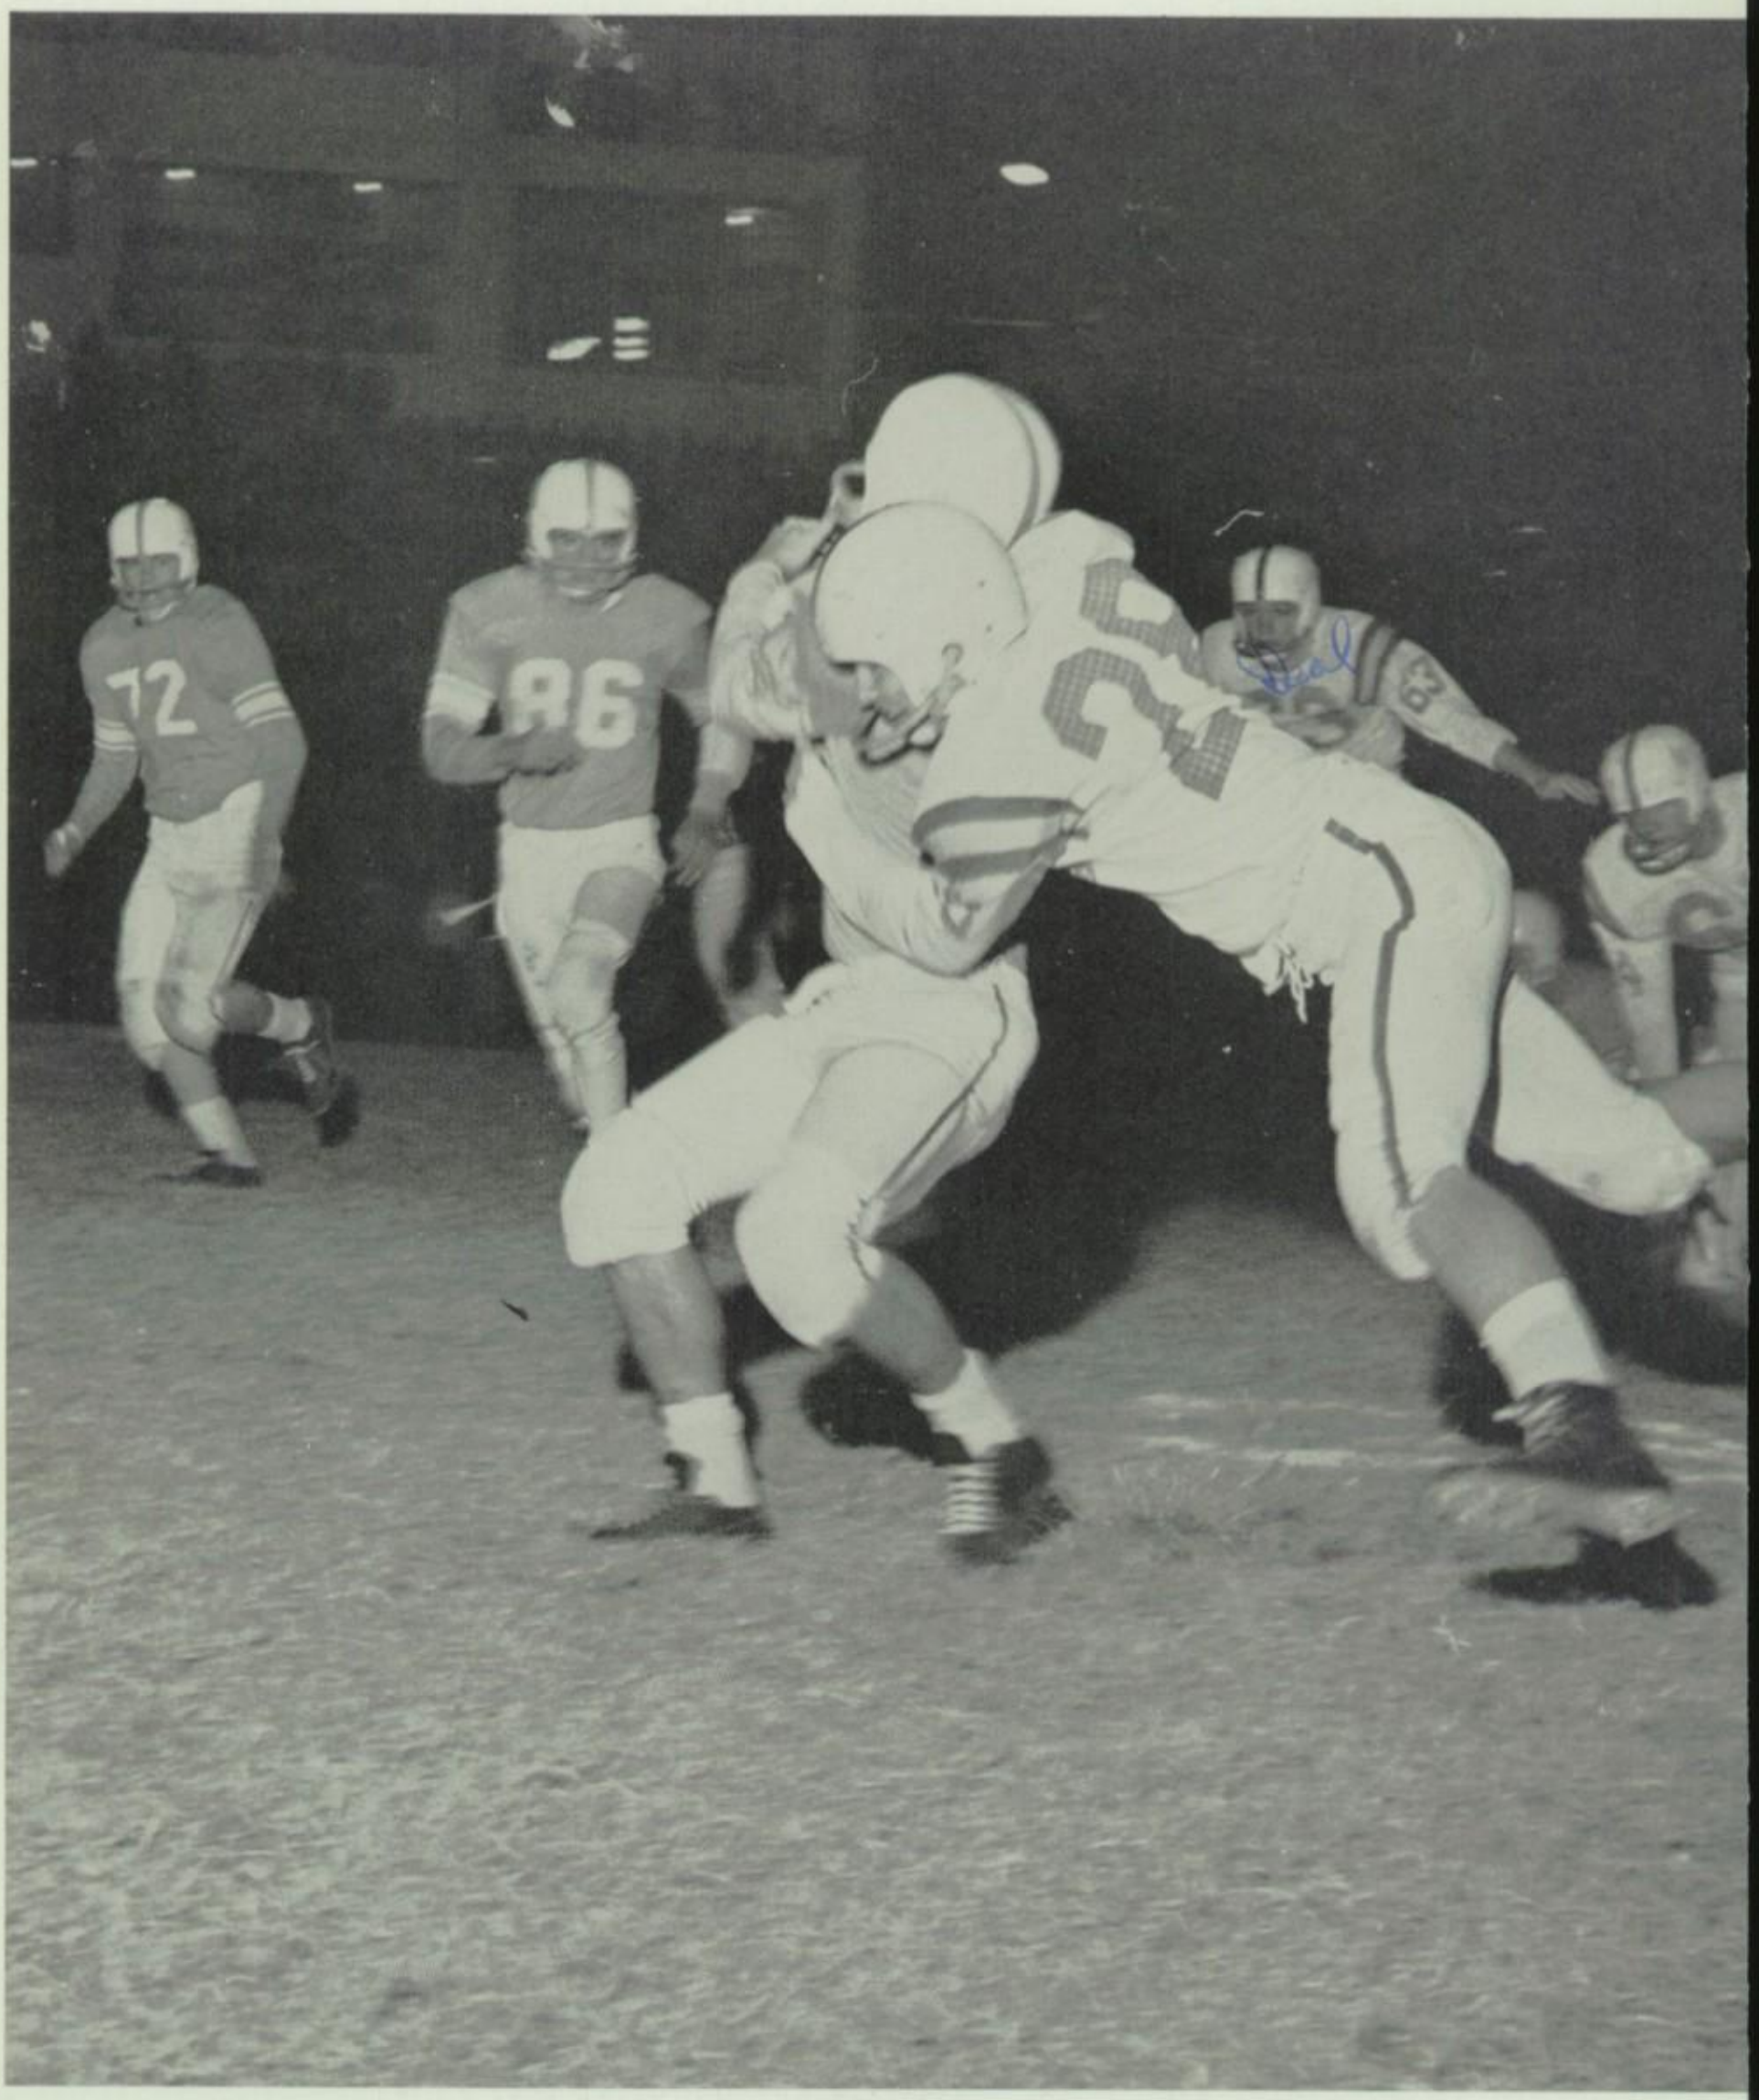
TILT AND TOURNEY

All-Sports Queen, Gloria Tracy, and attendants reign at Knightland's annual Sports Queen Coronation.



WE MADE IT — '59 MID-STATE!



Knight halfback, Stuart Meister, crumples a Norman Tiger as if he were a piece of paper. A weird, disputed play highlighted the game. Braving the cold, 12,500 cheering fans watched the fierce struggle. Two beautiful new trophies shine among our souvenirs—Mid-State and All-State Class AA awards.

CLASS AA STATE CHAMPIONS!!!

KNIGHTS TOUCH TOP

What a season! It began at Palo Duro in Amarillo, Texas. Some 500 Knights and Ladies made the 296 mile trek to see their Knights down the Dons, 20-6. In the Mid-State Conference opener, NWC boomed Midwest City's Bombers, 12-0.

With rain pouring down everybody's neck, NWC slogged to a 22-0 victory over Harding. Putnam City's Pirates and Shawnee's Wolves fell as our Knights successes continued, 20-0, and 22-8, respectively.

Northwest ran away from Douglass, 38-6. Most spectacular play came when Mike Miller intercepted a Trojan pass —flat on his back.

Next was that Capitol Hill raid. Our Knights squeaked by the Skins, 19-18, for the history making victory over this arch rival. The Redskins held a comfortable margin until late in the fourth stanza. Then it happened. With 7:31 remaining, center, Stan Harrison pounced on a Redskin fumble. NWC scooted to paydirt, and kicked the extra point that decided the victor. Fans went wild. Stopped cold, Hillmen were forced to punt. Six plays later the Knights scored the winning TD.

Enid's Plainsmen were sure they had their game won. But that old fourth quarter rally pulled out a TD with one second remaining. Winning 22-18 gave Knights the Mid-State Conference title.

With an unblemished 9-0 record, NWC triumphed over Northeast, 28-14. Both previously undefeated, NWC emerged mythical City Champs.

Now they faced Norman's Tigers for State AA title. What a game; A lateral from Miller to Lawson, deflected by a Tiger, was called a fumble instead of an incomplete pass. Miller, still prone, yelled to fullback, Walt Lawson, "Run, Walt, Run!" Lawson galloped 75 yards for the Knights' most memorable TD.

These A squadders are really top men on Knightland's totem pole. Row I: Harkey, Morelock, Burrus, Savage, Bowman, Harrison, Teigen, Hunt, Shock. Row II: Bucklin, Meister, Rawlinson, Bartlett, Dunlevy, Miller, Lawson, Snipes, Tier. Row III: Mr. Rex Irwin, Mr. Don Van Pool, Mr. Clay Davis, coaches, Dunford, Decker, O'Hara, Irwin, Perry, Weaver.

THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE, BUT . . .

"Now, this is what we're going to do . . ." Head coach Rex Irwin briefs his squad on the next game's strategy. Coach Irwin was named coach of the South offensive forces in the annual high school All-State game.

Wham! Enid punched hard, but Knights came back for a 22-18 victory. Knights wore dark uniforms that night. With 1:14 on the clock, a do or die race seemed like a nerve shattering eternity. With one second remaining, NWC crashed into the end zone with the telling TD. This one we called the "Sensational Second" duel. Plays like this gave us the "4th quarter winners" tag. We deserved it.

"I know it's in there somewhere!" cry our Knights as they scramble among the Northeast Vikings for the pigskin. We met these rivals in our ninth game. They, too, were undefeated in the season. They had fallen, however, in our last four meetings. Before a crowd of some 8,000 fans, this encounter ended our regular season in a 28-14 victory.

ONE DEFEAT CAN'T SPOIL A SEASON

Coaches, Don Van Pool and Jerry Haynes, consult with team members during time-out at Douglass. This heart-breaker ended Knights' 11 game winning streak. For the second year in a row, Tom Ward ranked high point man.

Taking a flying leap, David Howell drives for a lay-up as two Harding Eagles assist him.

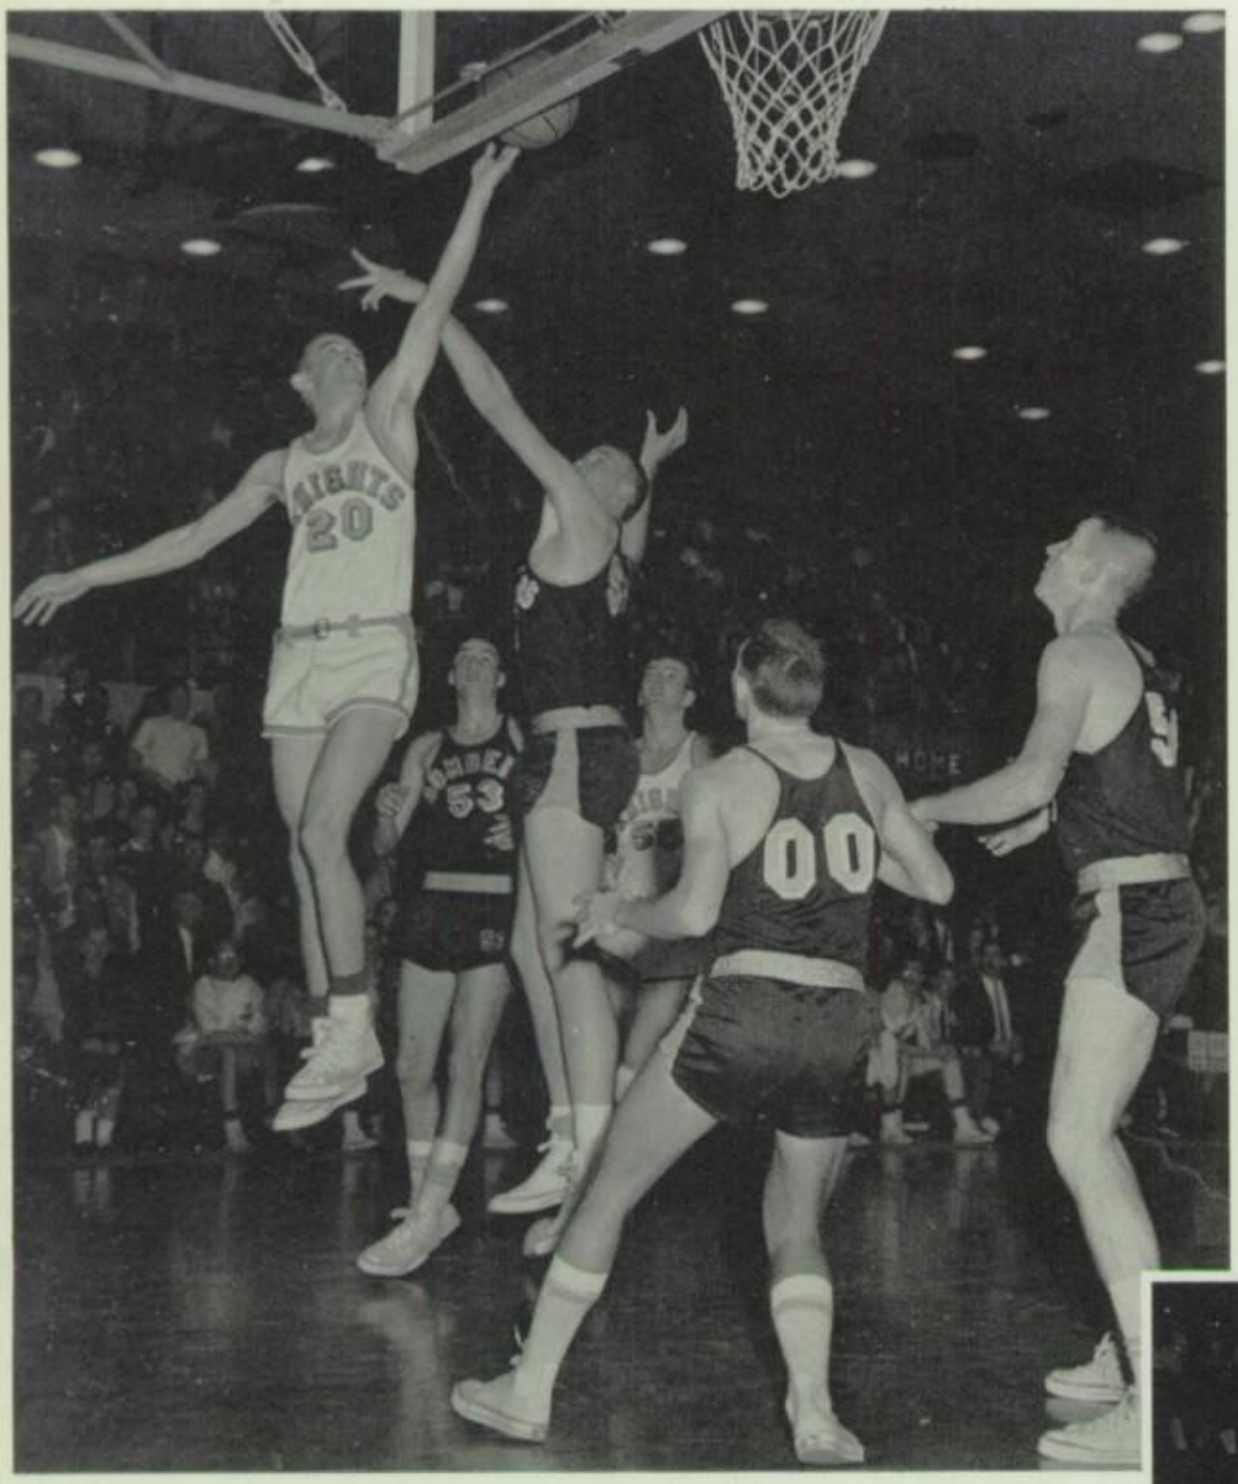
NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE



Determined Lynn Loveless leaves the floor to sink a shot despite thwarting efforts of Midwest City team. NWC's gym was packed with excited fans watching this headliner.

RESUME — 18 SCALPS

Knight maplers had overthrown four non-conference teams to the tune of 215 points to 166 before launching their conference opener against the Douglass Trojans.

Next came Shawnee. The Wolves all but devoured us, armor and all. At Enid, teamwork withstood 31 points scored by Enid's Larry Hawk, and we emerged, after the lead had changed hands 12 times during the game, 51-49.

Capitol Hill Red Skins were scalped, 54-43. This victory, as a result of Midwest City's loss to Shawnee, advanced the Knights to top conference rating.

The Bombers were out for blood, especially royal Knight corpuscles. A fired-up thriller saw the Knights dragging at the end of third quarter, 38-34. Suddenly, in true Knight tradition, Lynn Loveless galloped in on a 15 foot jump shot and led the way to a 51-46 Knight victory. Next feat was to overpower the Pirates. It looked for awhile like a cutlass was a weapon superior to a spear. But Knight tactics pulled away in the third period and chalked up Victory Number 11, 52-41.

Still muttering about a third-quarter rally that erased a one-point difference in their earlier encounter, which ended a tight game, 64-39, the Douglass Trojans were intent on vengeance. The Knights winning streak was snapped, 59-51, our only defeat of the '59-'60 season.

This gave Midwest City Bombers hope. They were back in the running for Mid-State title. Whether the Knights' steeds drank jet fuel from the Bombers' jet engines, no one will ever know. Some 3,000 title-hungry fans gasped and clamored at a nip and tuck, action-packed thriller. In the third quarter, John Daniel, driving for a lay-up, lost his grip and kicked the ball. He gave it an upper-cut that landed the ball on the hoop and it fell through as the last second of the quarter expired. With the score tied, the Knights pulled all the stops in the fourth stanza and won 55-44. Never in trouble, the Knights clipped the Harding Eagles, 75-46. This set a new Knight scoring record for a single game.

"Oh, no! There goes another ball in the basket," exclaims Harding's number 45. Jim Johnson and Tom Hendrickson are in high spirits.

SUCCESS

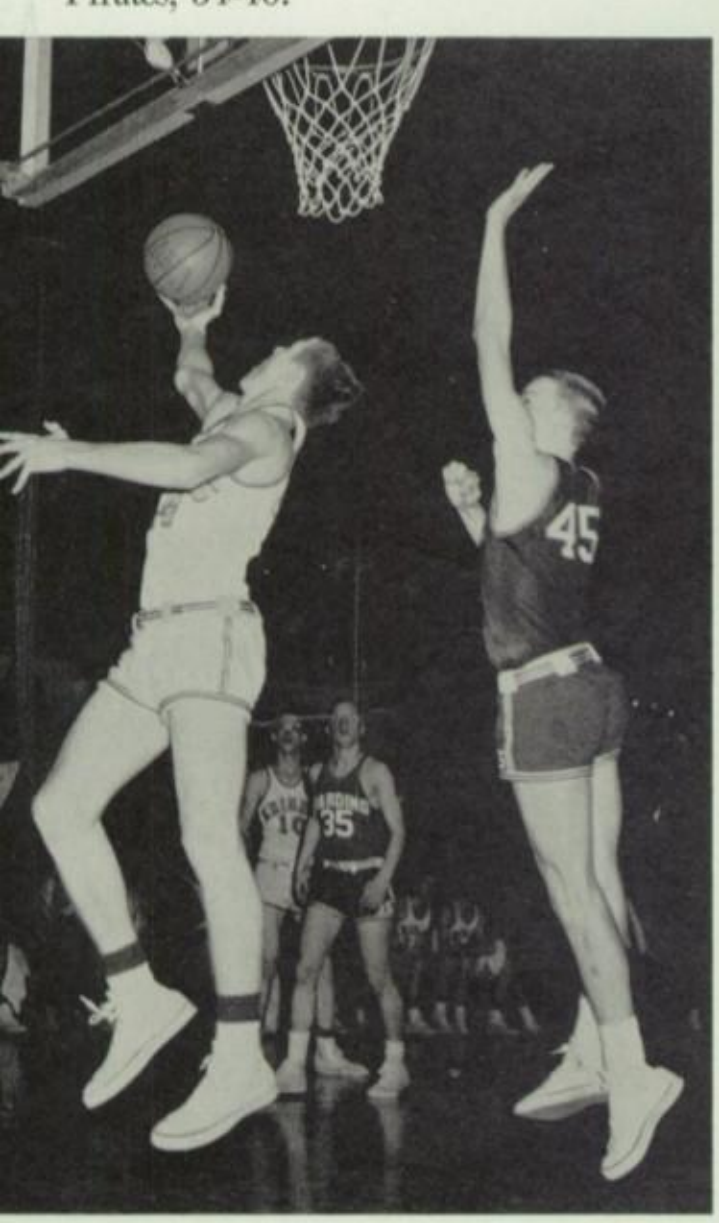
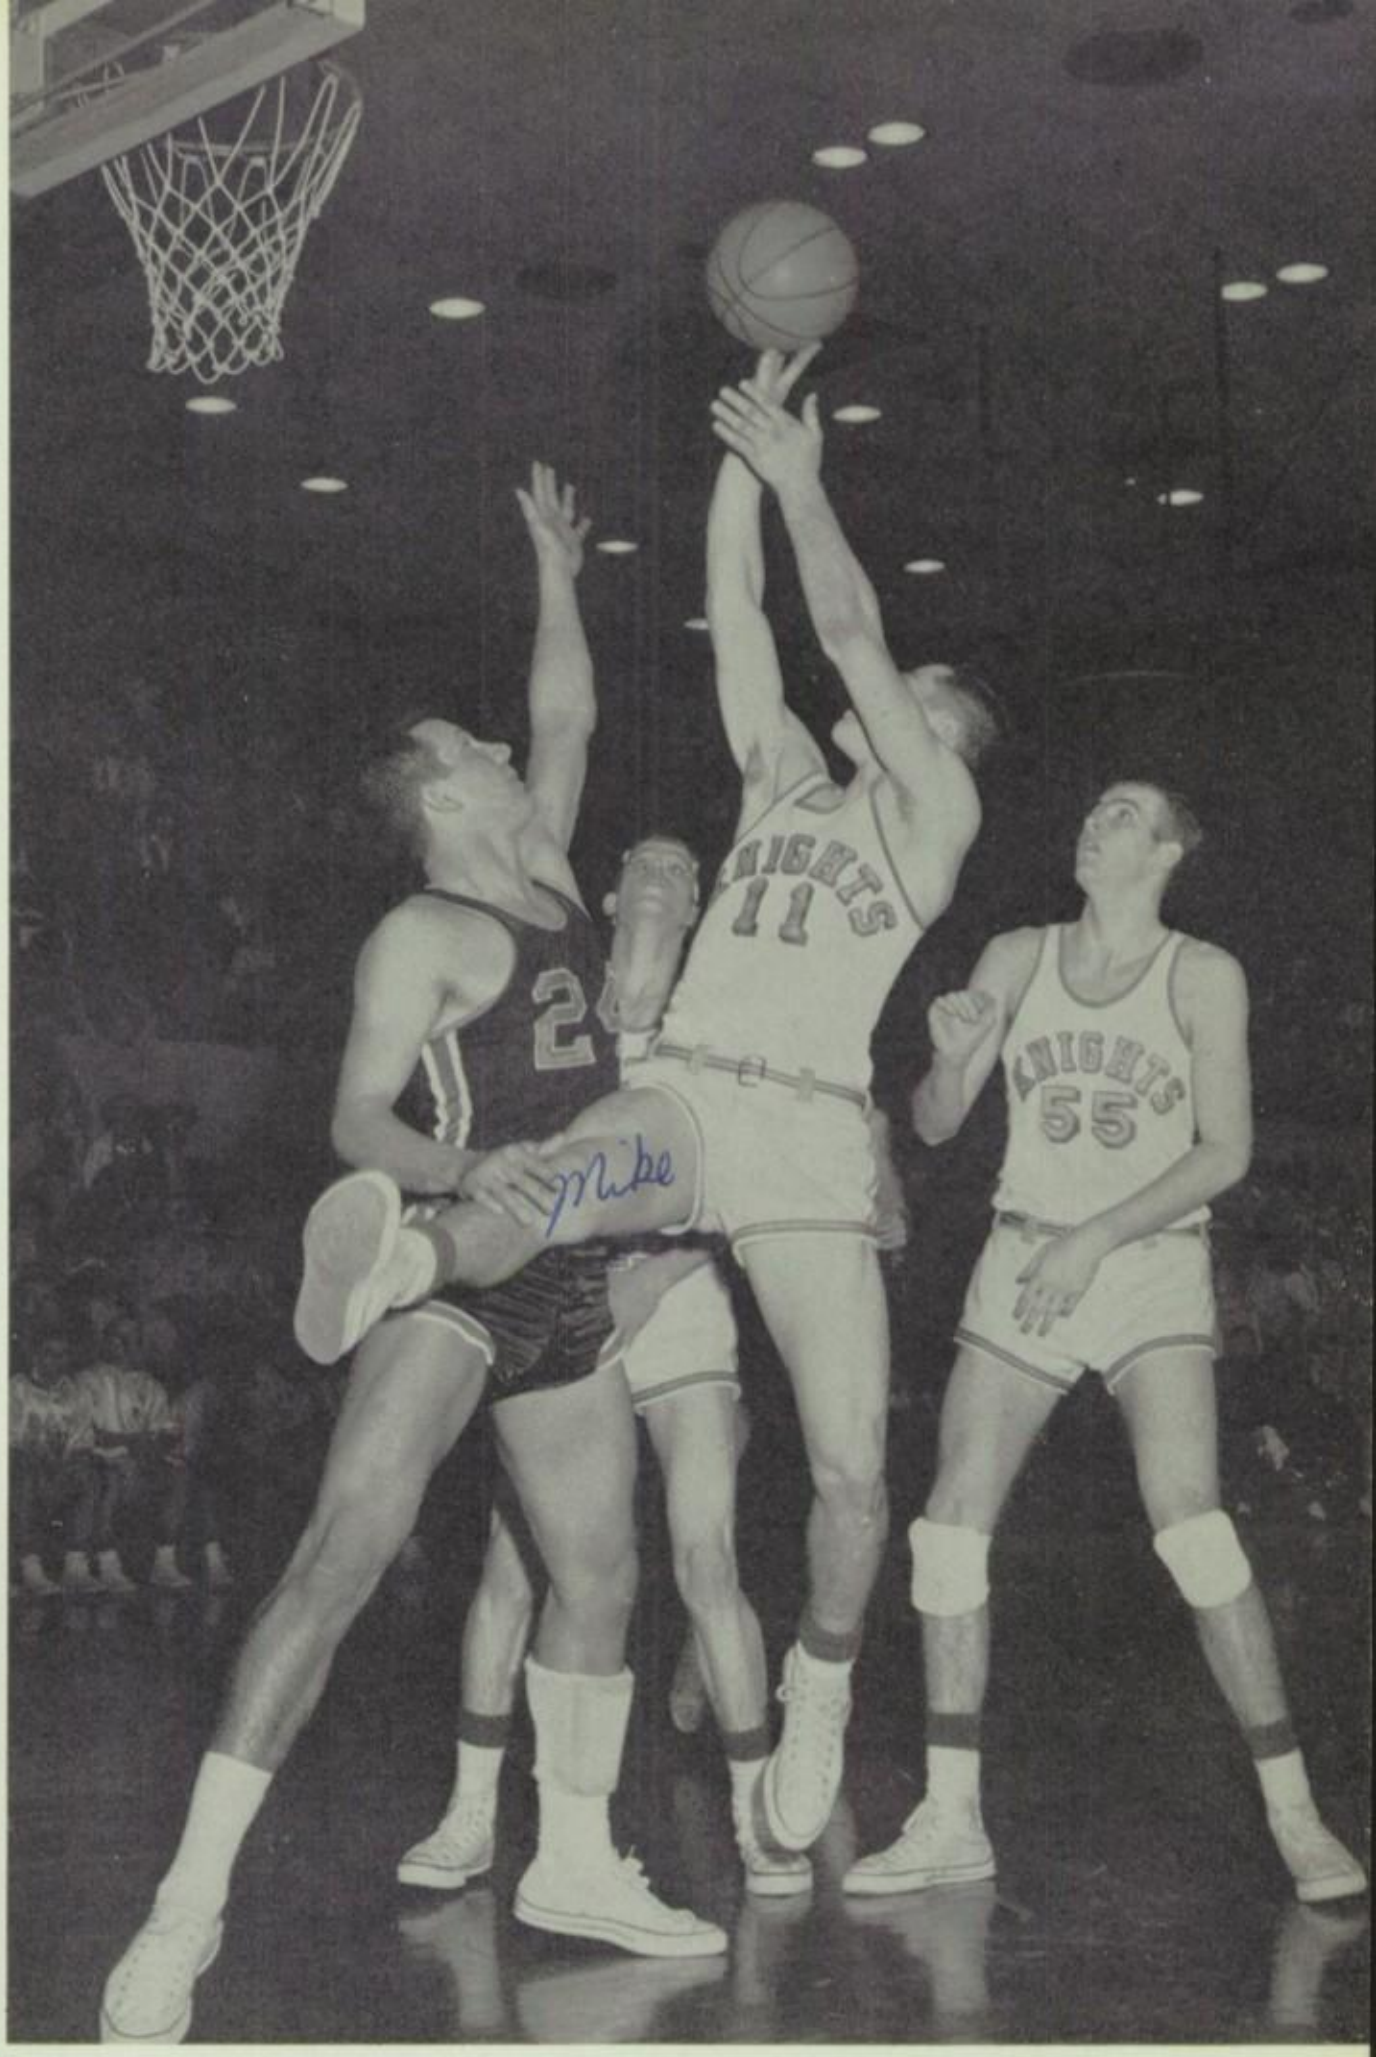
It was time to go bounty hunting again. Shawnee Wolves were licking their chops. Seasoned by the Douglass experience, determined Knightland hoopsters outhowled the Wolves, 59-39. Sports writers called the performance nearly perfect basketball.

By now the Pirates had the bottom back in their boat. They darned near rammed us. Larry Bartlett championed a third-quarter rally that scuttled the Pirates, 54-40.



Swinging for a hook shot, Denny Carreker is one of 12 graduating seniors on the squad.



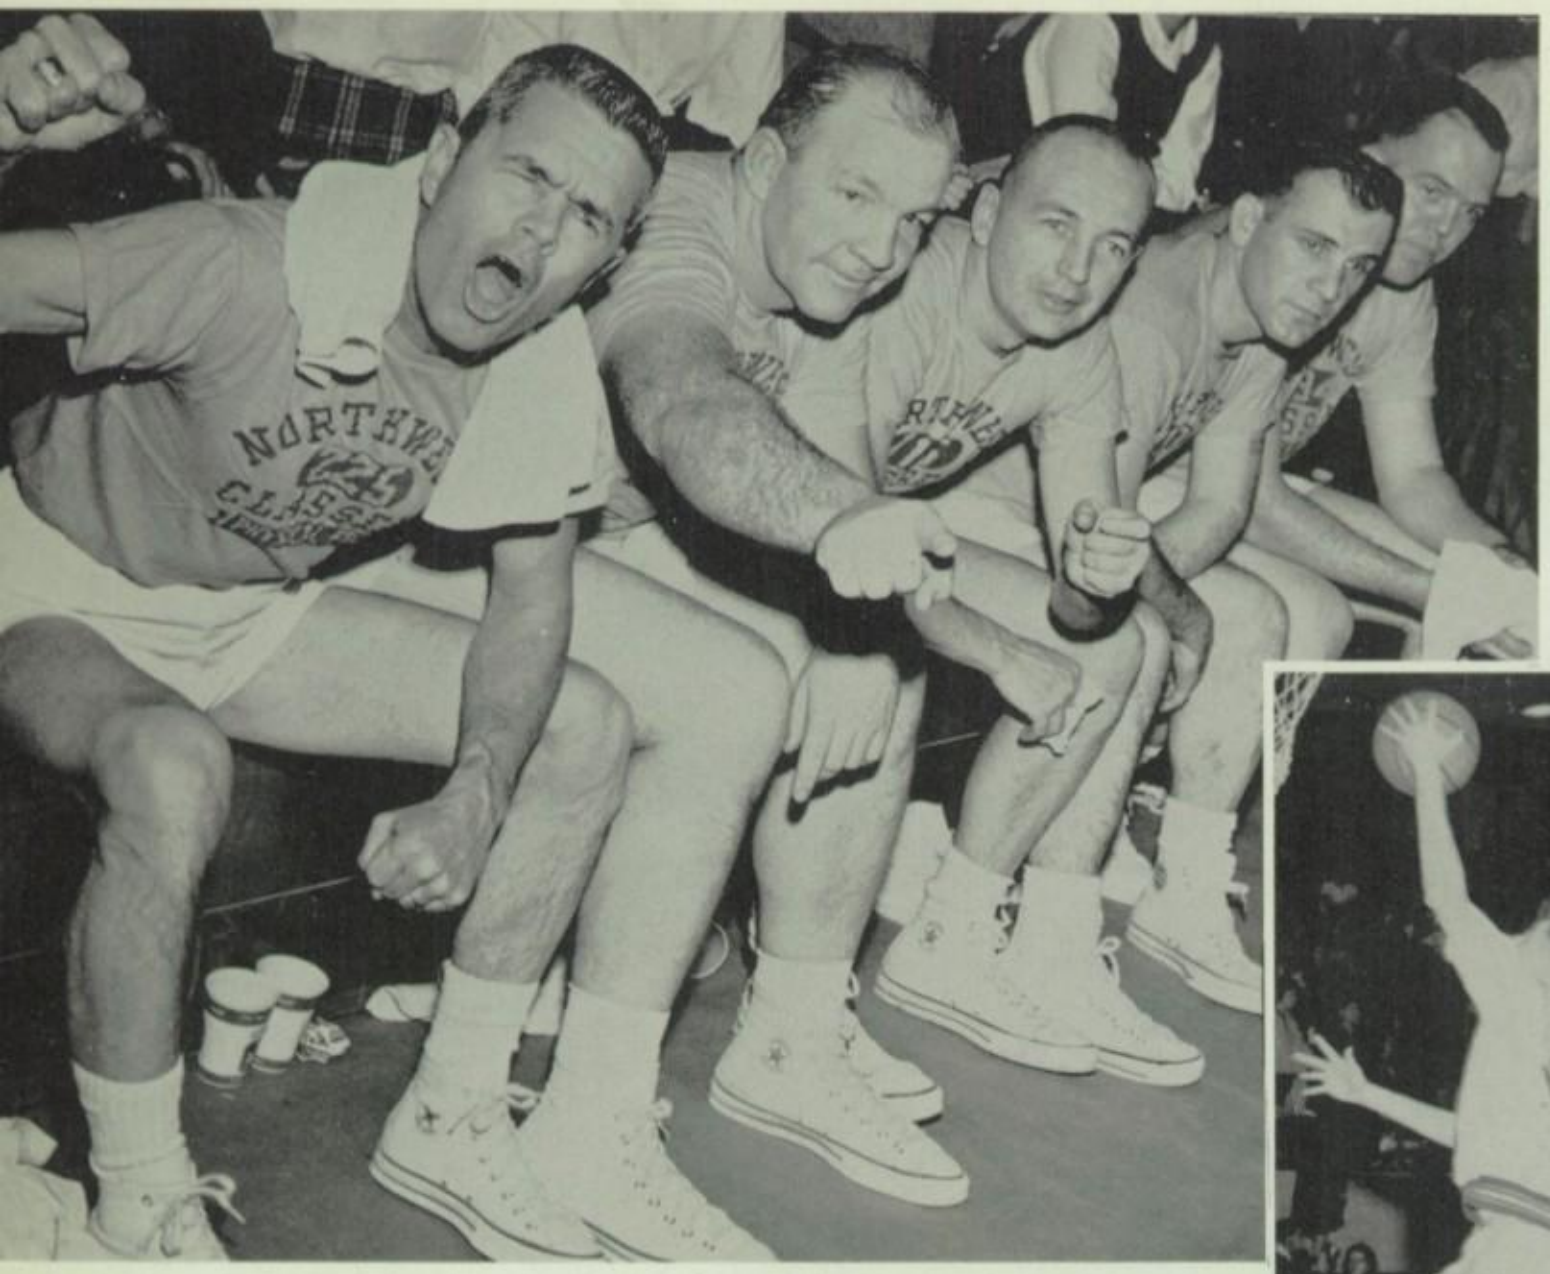
Pushing the ball just a little bit further, Mike Miller jump shots while Lon Foster is ready to help if a Putnam City Pirate gets in the way.

Knights outdid their own record in a tussle with Northeast Vikings by hiking points in one game to 80 against the Vikings' 50.

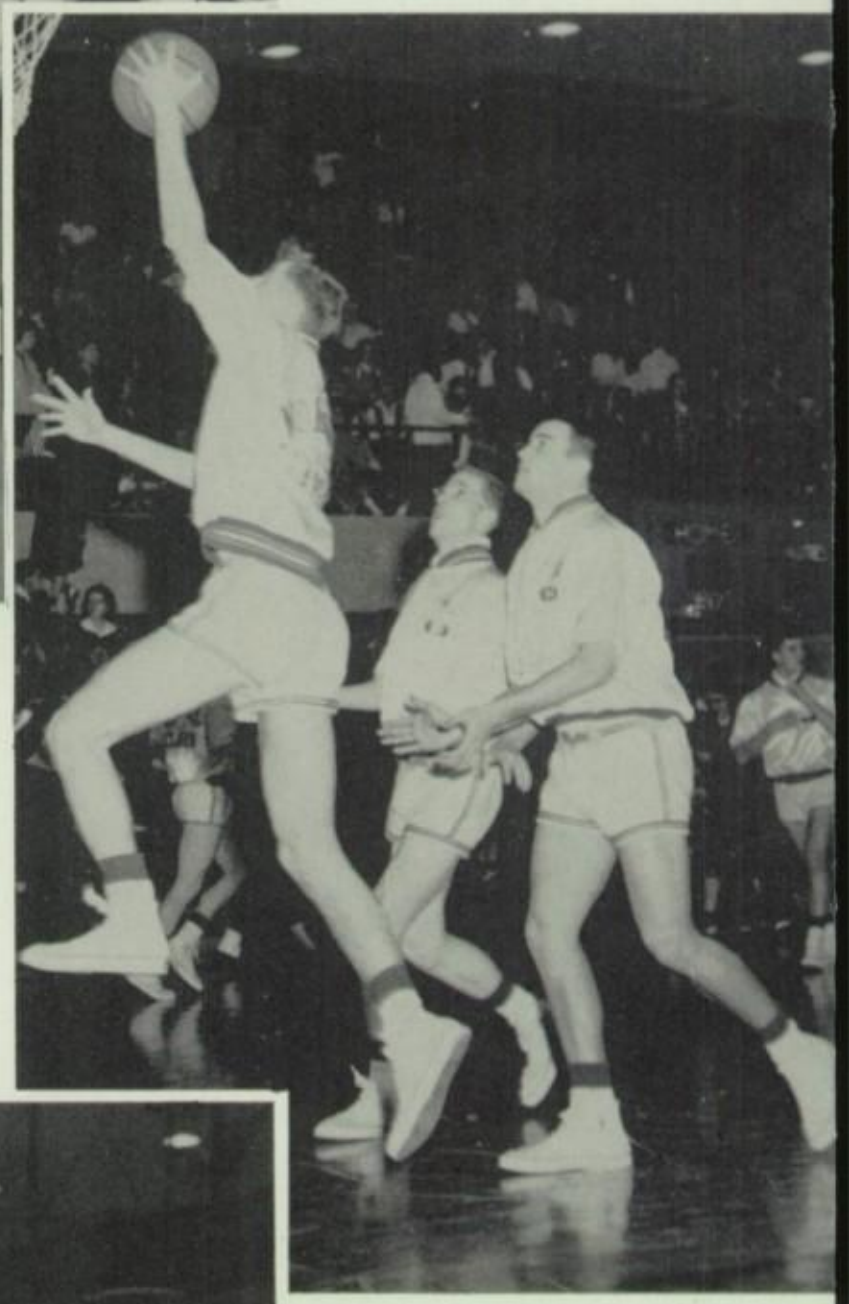
Toppling Enid, 49-46, we retired a 13 year state record by becoming the first state school to win Mid-State Football and Mid-State Basketball championships within a single year. But Capitol Hill Red Skins were on our trail.

Just to make it official, we ambushed them, 57-50. With 18 scalps dangling we're getting a firm grip on our spears, making ready to give good account of ourselves in the Regional and State Play-offs. Prospects for taking All-State look promising.

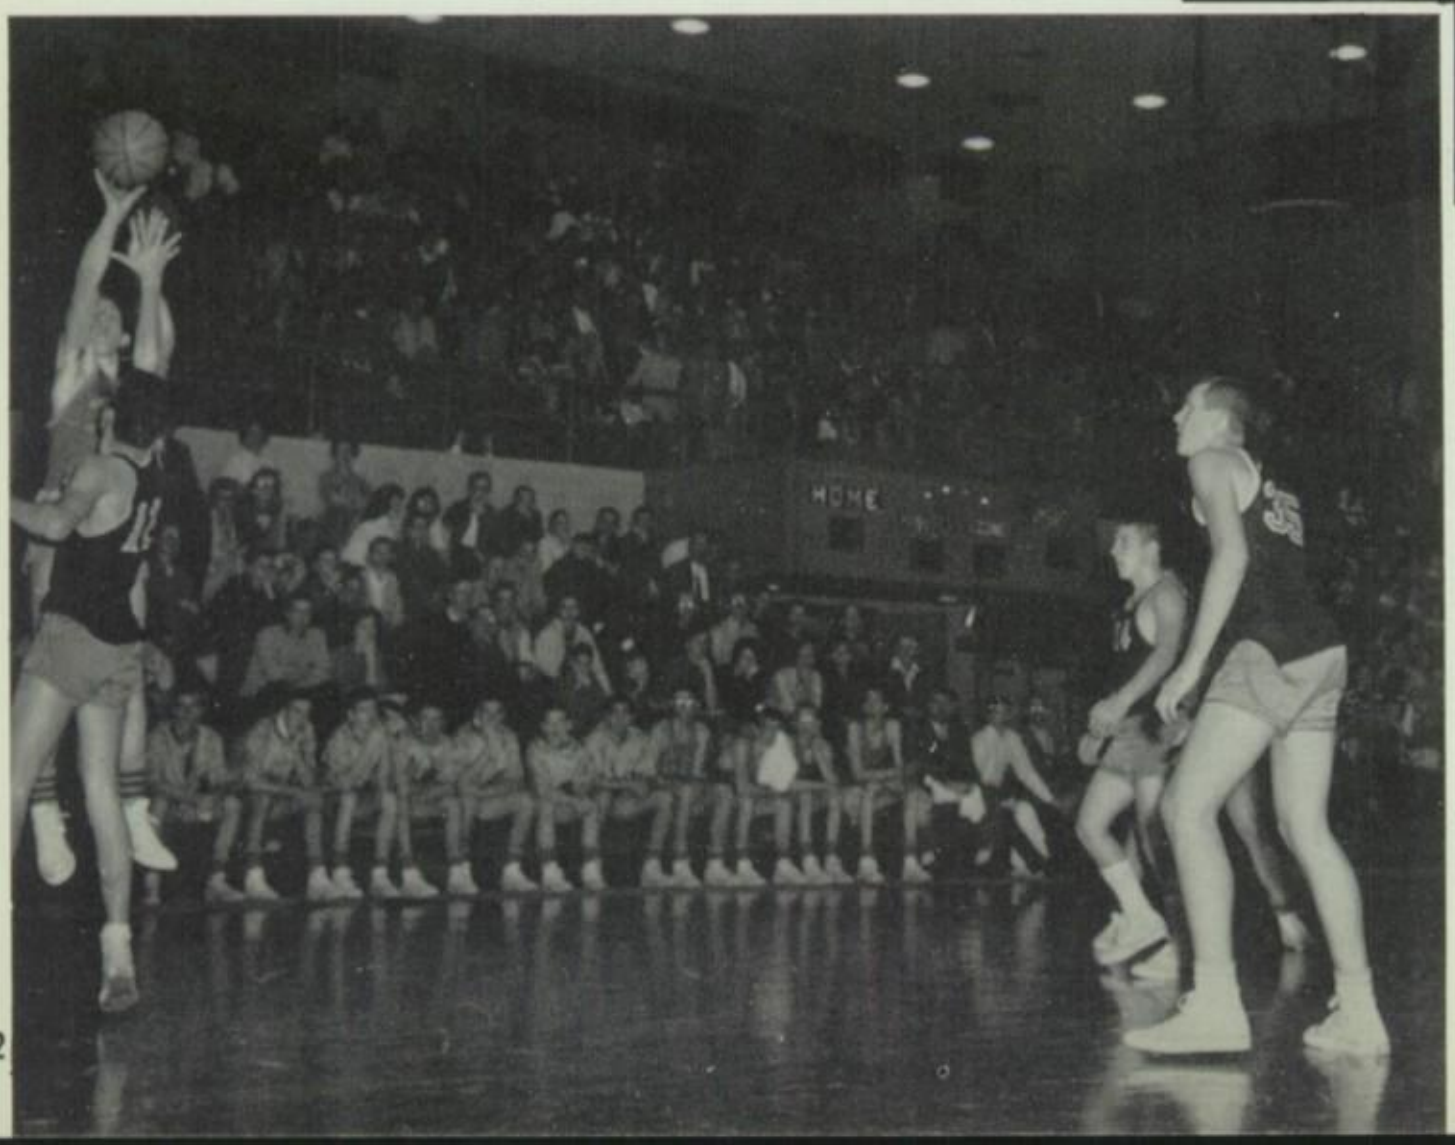
FORTUNE FORSOOK FACULTY FIZZLERS



"Did you see that?" Team members of the Faculty Fizzlers aren't too happy about tactics varsity players used. Discarded cups indicate that even imbibing failed to re-fortify Fizzler forces to offset a resounding 60-40 defeat.

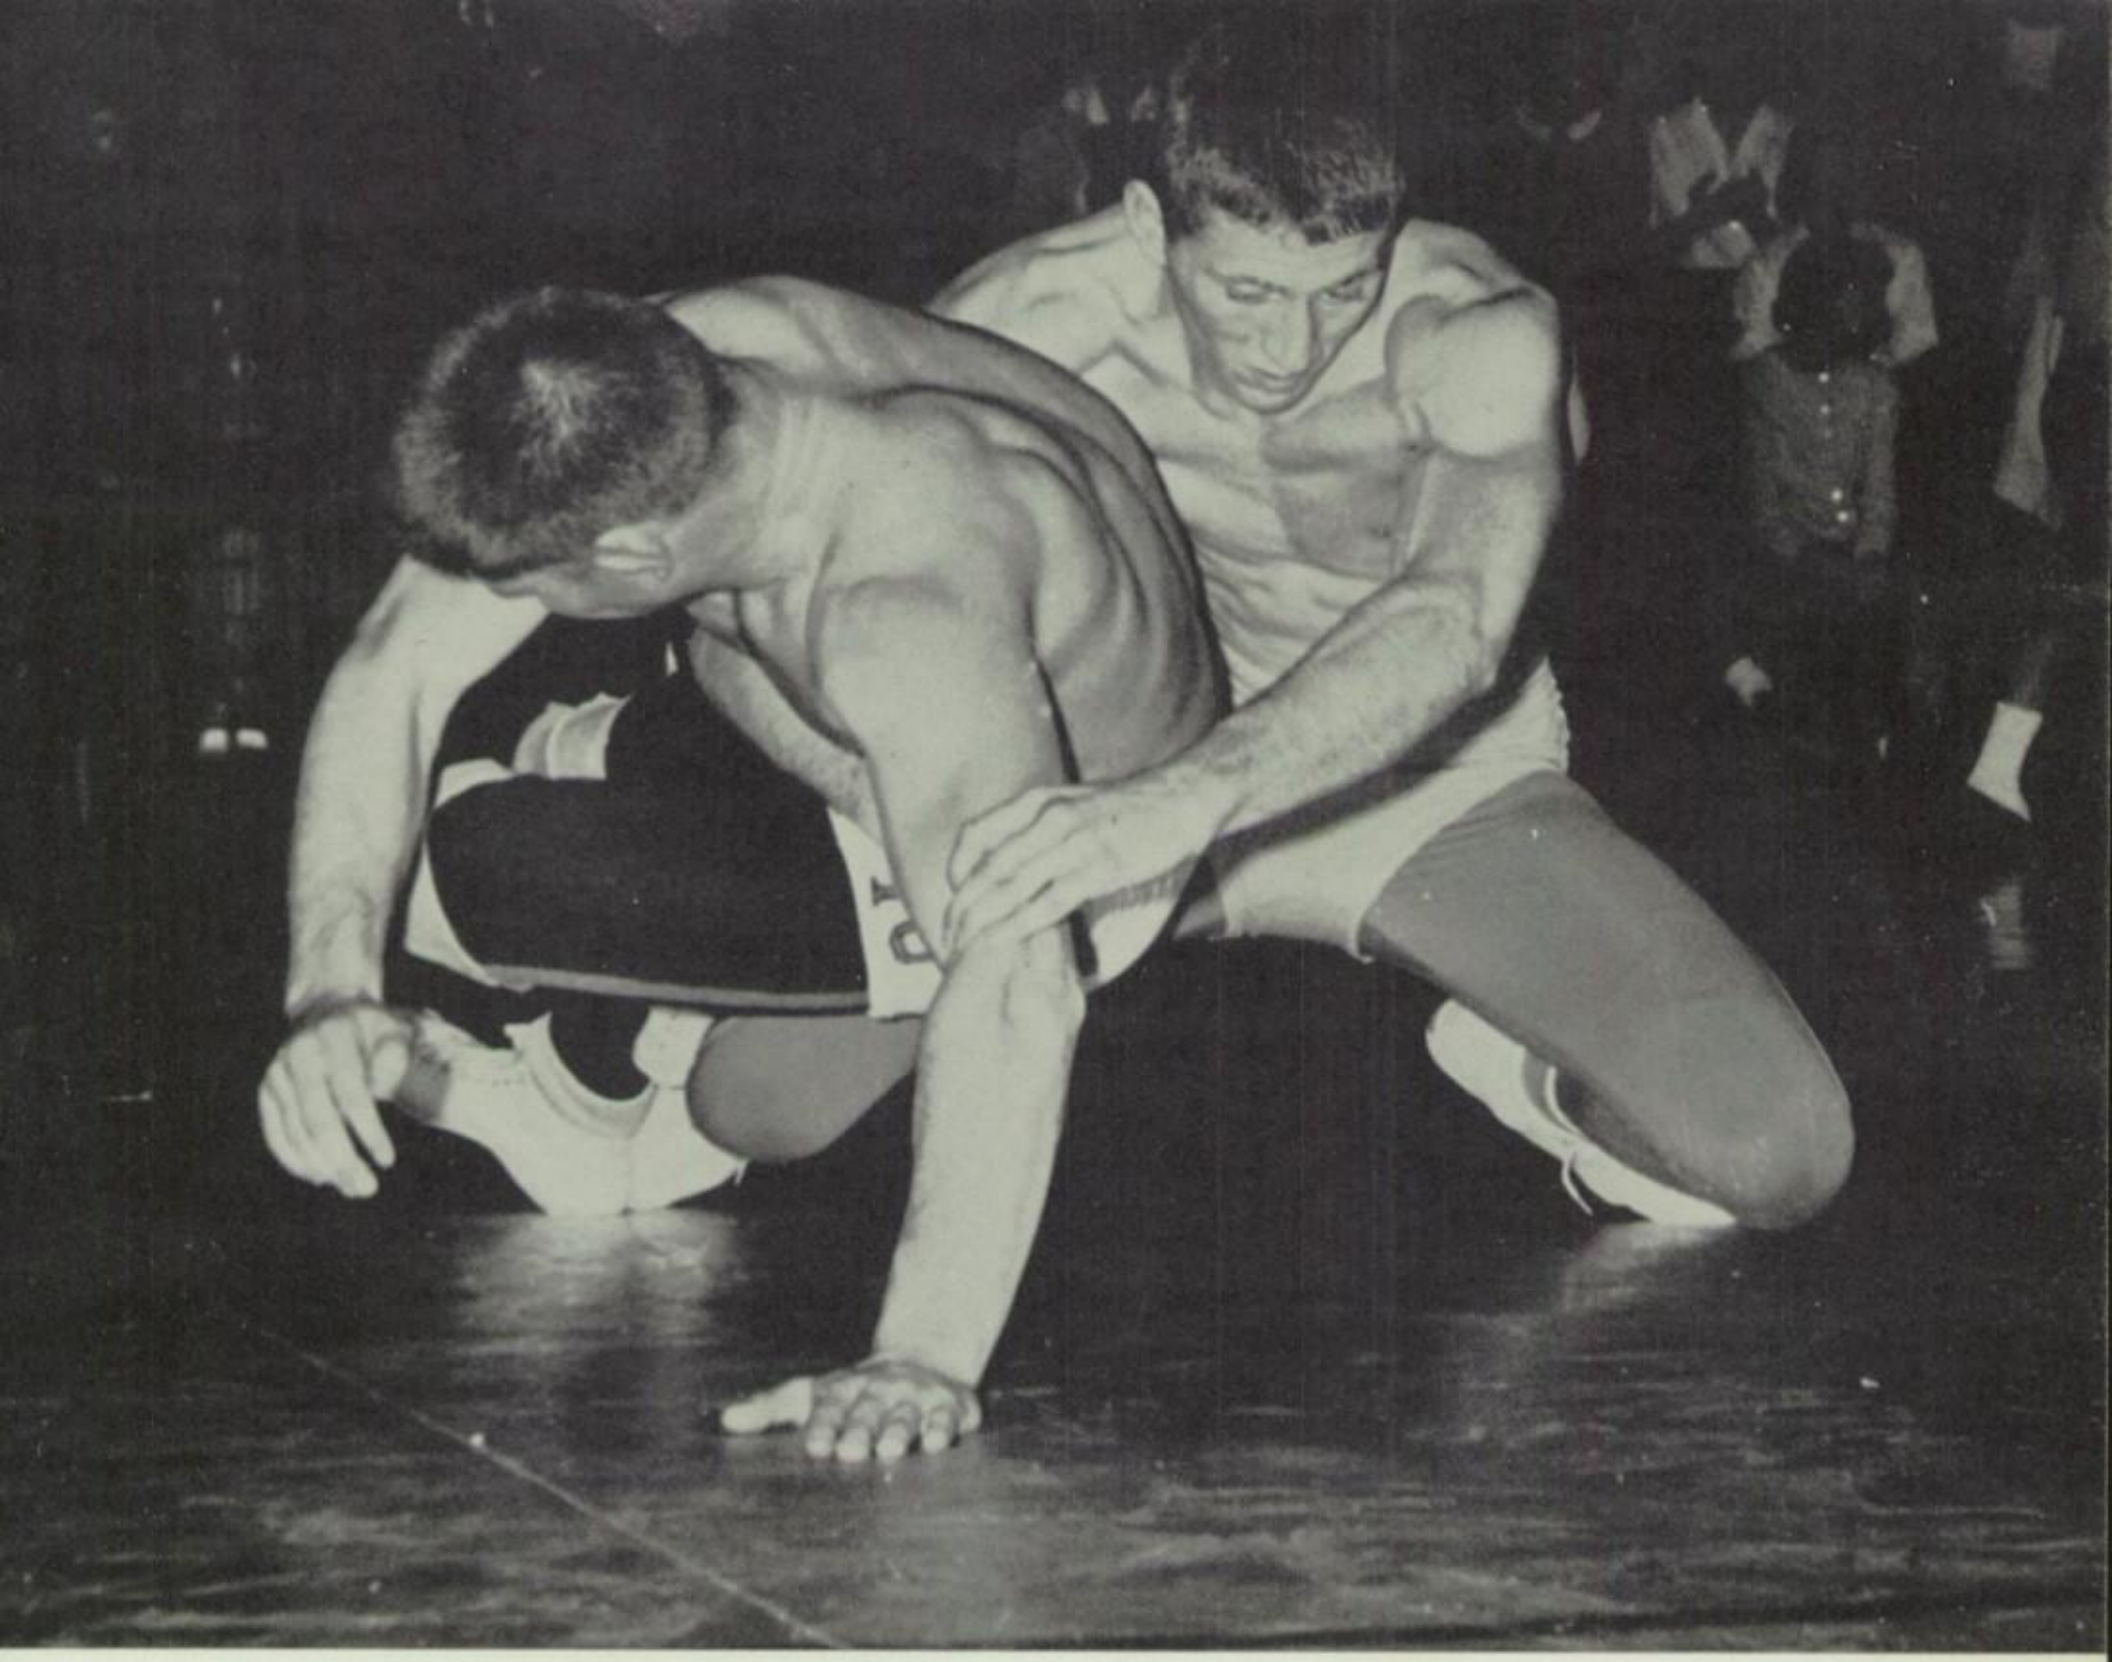


BOUND TO REBOUND



John Daniel practices a lay-up during pre-game warm-up session as Tom Ward and Gerald Warren await the rebound.

As prelude to varsity action, B-Squad games provide thrills and chills. While Russell Lawson shoots, team members give support from the bench.



Northwest Classen's Student Council president, 167-pound Stan Harrison, blocks an attempted switch by his opponent. In addition to four-year letterman in wrestling, Stan's laurels include three-year letters in football and track.

MIGHTY MATMEN MAKE MARK

Knights sent nine wrestlers to State Tournament at Blackwell. Three of these placed, rounding out one of Northwest Classen's greatest seasons in this sport.

Two recruits from other schools joined Mr. L. Marcotte's matmen, Ronnie Hunt, Putnam City, and Max McClain, OMA. They have given good account of themselves. Each of them, along with Larry Lensky and Mike Deal took 2nd places in Regionals. Greg Pounds took 3rd place and J. W. Robertson placed 4th.

On December 18, our Knights captured the City Wrestling Tournament by overcoming the second place team, also an Oklahoma City school, John Marshall, 96-91.

Grapplers won 5th place in the Geary Invitational Tournament. This was the greatest showing ever made by Northwest Classen at this tournament.

Fired up by these accomplishments and a brilliant record at dual meets, the team racked up a 2nd place trophy at Mid-State Tournament, then placed nine men at hte Edmond Regionals who later represented us at State.

WRESTLING BECOMES A MAJOR SPORT

Wrestlers had a successful season. Row 1: Reeves, Lensky, Aiken, Carpenter, Smith, Christian, McClain, Pansze. Row 2: Thompson, manager; Geisendorf, D. Harrison, Hill, Deal, Hunt, Henthorn, S. Harrison, Strong, Mr. Leonard Marcotte, coach.

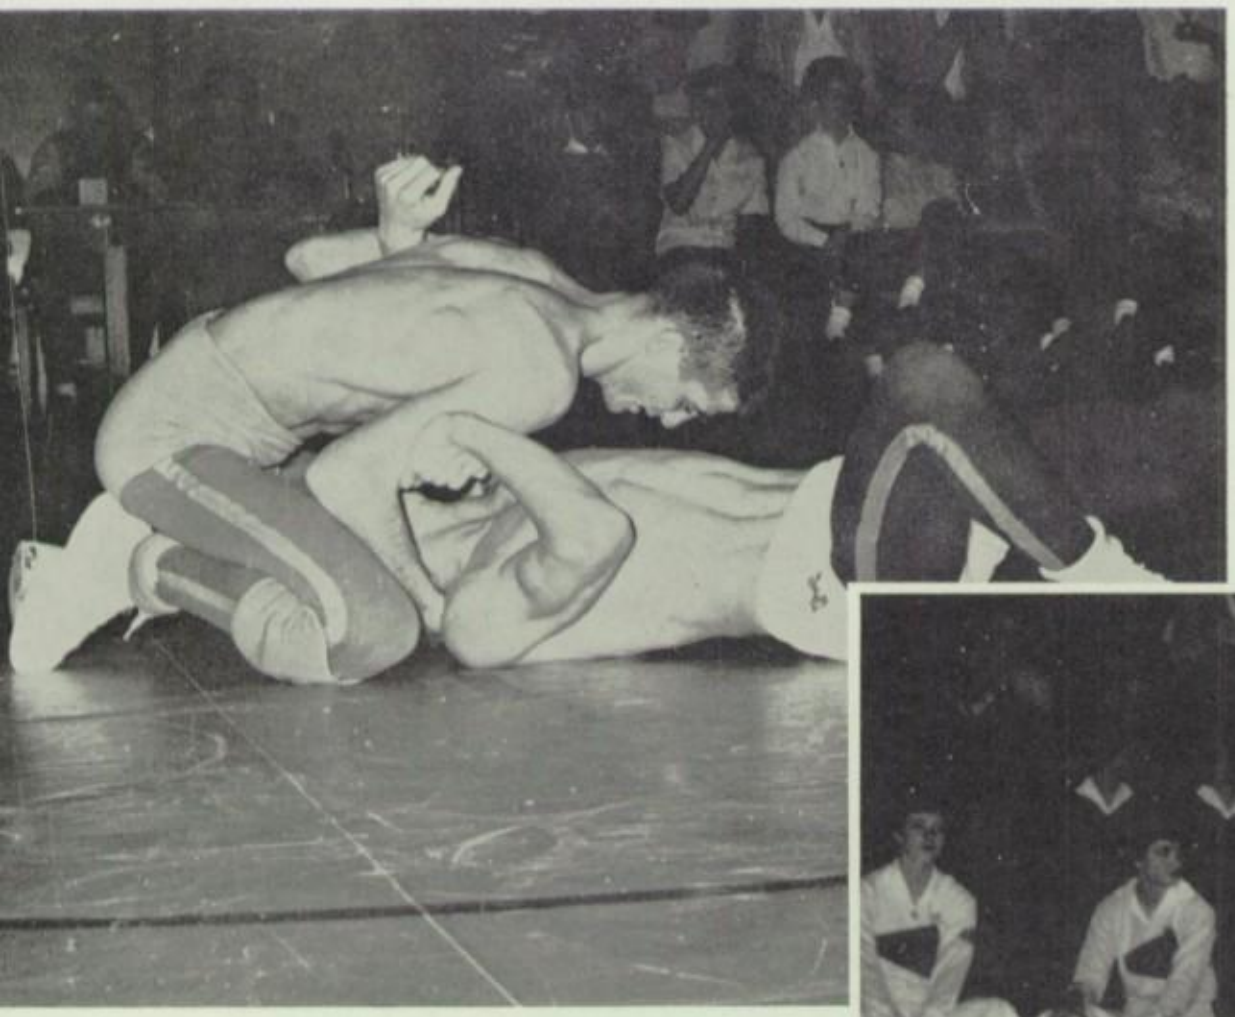
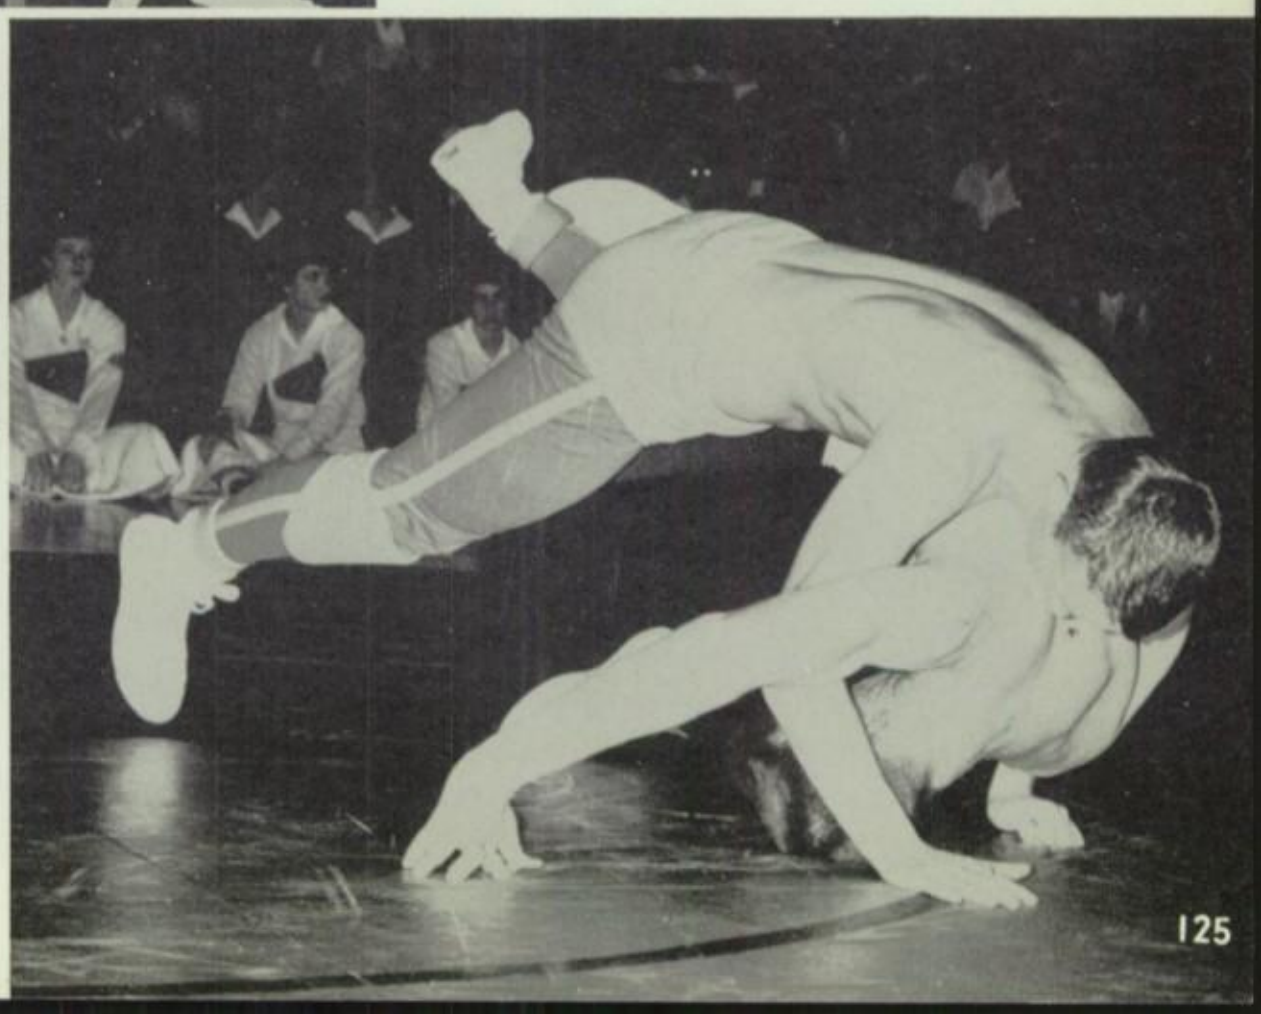
In one of the Mid-State Conference's closest and most thrilling matches, Knight, Max McClain was decisioned by Capitol Hill's Jim Burleson, 4-3.



Jann Christian attempts to pin one of Midwest City's challengers.

Mike Deal throws a half-Nelson on his hapless opponent. Mike climaxed his wrestling career at Northwest Classen this year by claiming a first place at Mid-State, a third place at Regionals, and a fourth place at State.



Femme basketeers practice to gain precision and delivery. City teams form a league and compete for City Championship. This year's schedule had nine games. Left to right, Ames, Waldrop, Miss Margaret Dousett, coach; Holmberg, Smith, Freeman, Young, Stewart, Spears, Nay, Allison, Chance, Staples.

Girls in volleyball are Nay, Runka, Spears, Allison, Holmberg, Waldrop, Miss Margaret Doussett, coach; Miller, Young, Loeffler, Stewart, Ames, Smith.

GIRLS

Another representative of team sports is SOFTBALL. Players this year were about evenly divided between beginners and seasoned players. Row 1: Miss Margaret Doussett, coach; Staples, Spears, Nay, Smith, Stewart. Row 2: Ames, Runka, Allison, Holmberg, Flatt. Row 3: Hayes, Hager, Young, Chance, Waldrop. This year's team had a 2-2 season.

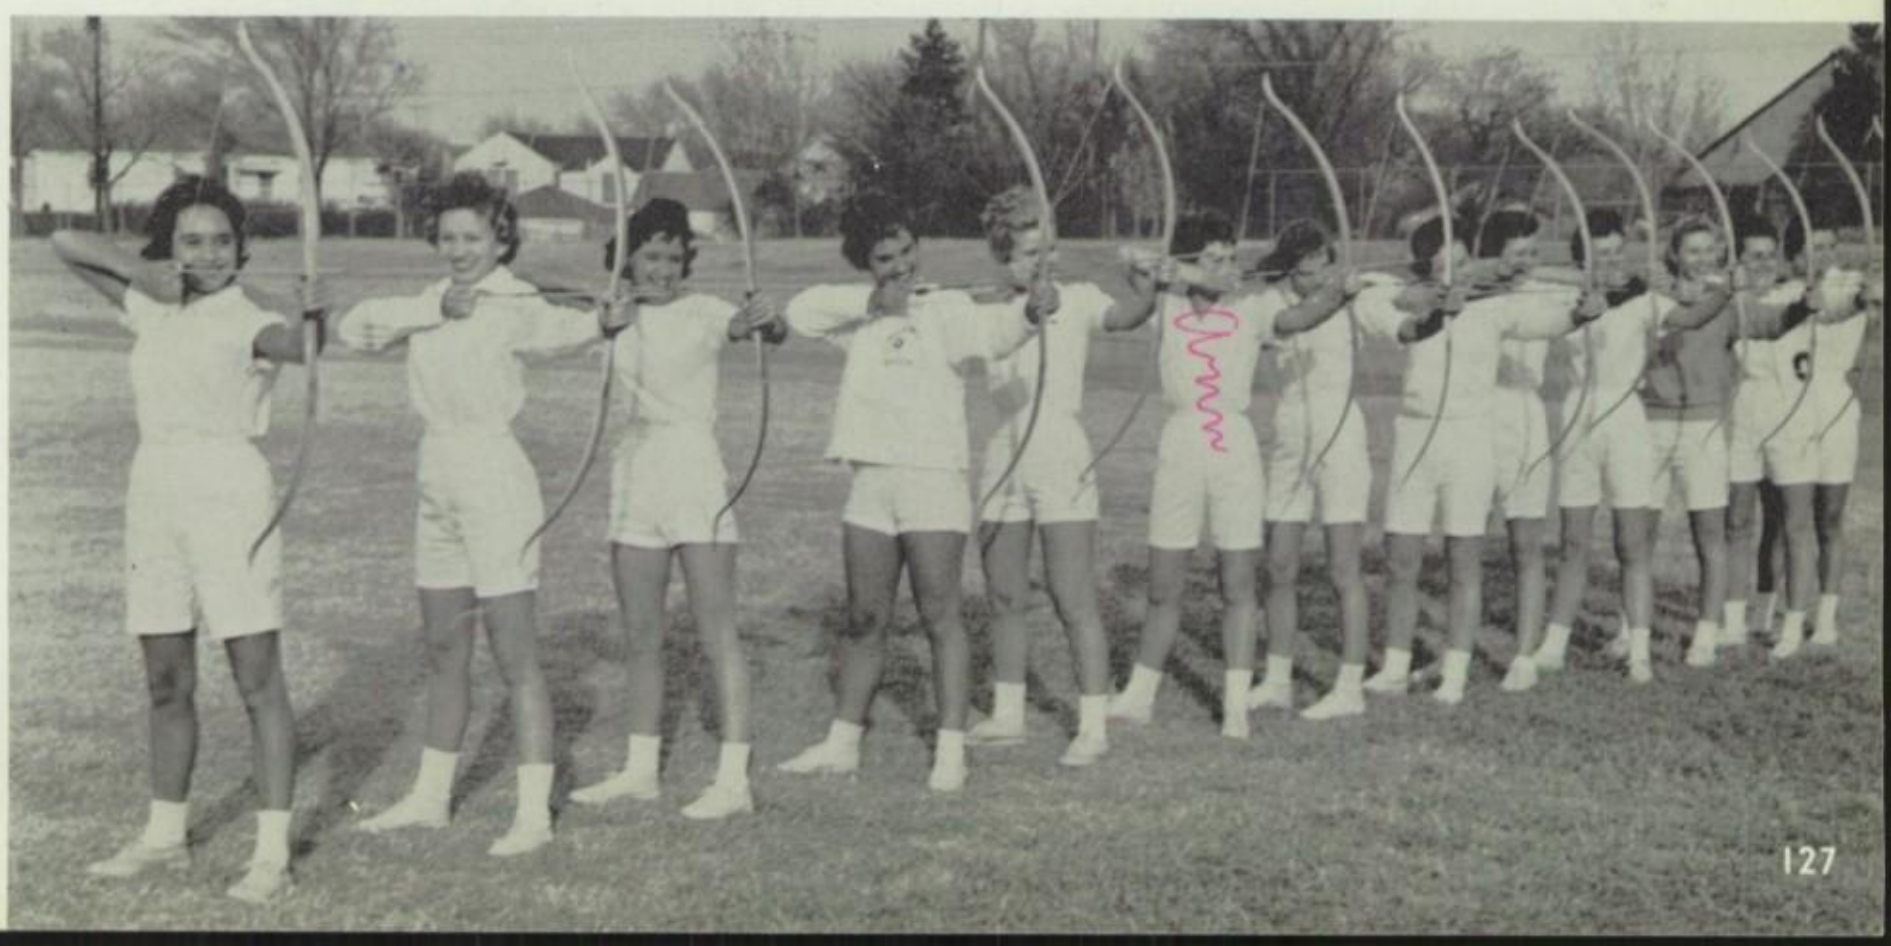
BADMINTON—Row 1: B. Koeppel, Bleakney, McMurran, Martin, Higdon, Bay, T. Koeppel. Row 2: Lacy, Kutz, Preble, Dixon, Easton, Mrs. Cortez Copher, coach.

GET NEW MENTORS

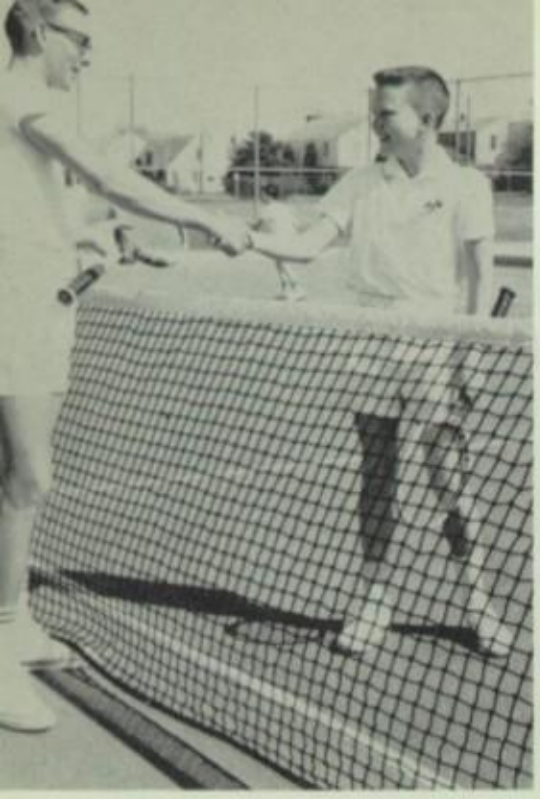
Mrs. Cortez Copher and Miss Margaret Doussett are newcomers to Northwest Classen's girls' physical education department. Individual sports, tennis, badminton, table tennis and archery were taught by Mrs. Copher. Archery was so new that no competition was held. Miss Doussett was in charge of softball, volleyball and basketball.

City singles championship in TABLE TENNIS was won by Sandy Bay. Row 1: Matthews, File, Bay, Biggs, Higdon. Row 2: Koeppel, Prater, Steadley, Clarkson, Mrs. Cortez Copher, coach.

Newest sport for NWC ladies is ARCHERY. Taking aim at an unidentified target, archers prepare to fill the air with arrows. Who knows? They may bring down a bear, or maybe a man!



TENNIS TAKES TIMING



No hard feelings as Bob Coulter and Jim Barnes shake hands after a rugged game of tennis.

Netmen strive to develop good form and perfection, important to tennis players. Row 1: Coulter, Arnold, Wiles, Linn, Shoebotham. Row 2: Mr. David Hoke, coach; Warren, Barnes, Lysaught, Rose, Cline.

Hours of hard practice enable a player to return balls without running himself ragged. Tennis quickens muscular coordination and trains timing sense. Boys' probable spring starting line-up: Jay Lysaught, Mike Arnold, John Rose, Ben Warren, Bob Coulter, Jim Barnes, Philip Wiles, David Shoebotham.

Bad spring weather handicapped the racquet squad's program. Mr. David Hoke, of safety education, coached the boys' team. Girls were coached by Mrs. Cortez Copher.

Eager to show their tennis skill, 1959-60 girls' tennis team consists of: Row 1: Hancock, Lewis, Aiken, Olson. Row 2: Mrs. Cortez Copher, coach; Albert, Cox, Cameron, Coit.

DIVOTEERS TEE-OFF

Golf reigns as an open season game. Linkmen have access to several courses within the city, and polish their skill, when weather permits, throughout the year. Mr. Carroll Smelser, coach, has five men who were on the team last year. A full schedule runs well beyond the close of school.

Row 1: Wallace, McLure, Simms, Matthews, Coppedge, Williams. Row 2: Mr. Carroll Smelser, coach; Chochran, Holmes, Moss, Warren, Davidge, Spear, Clonce.

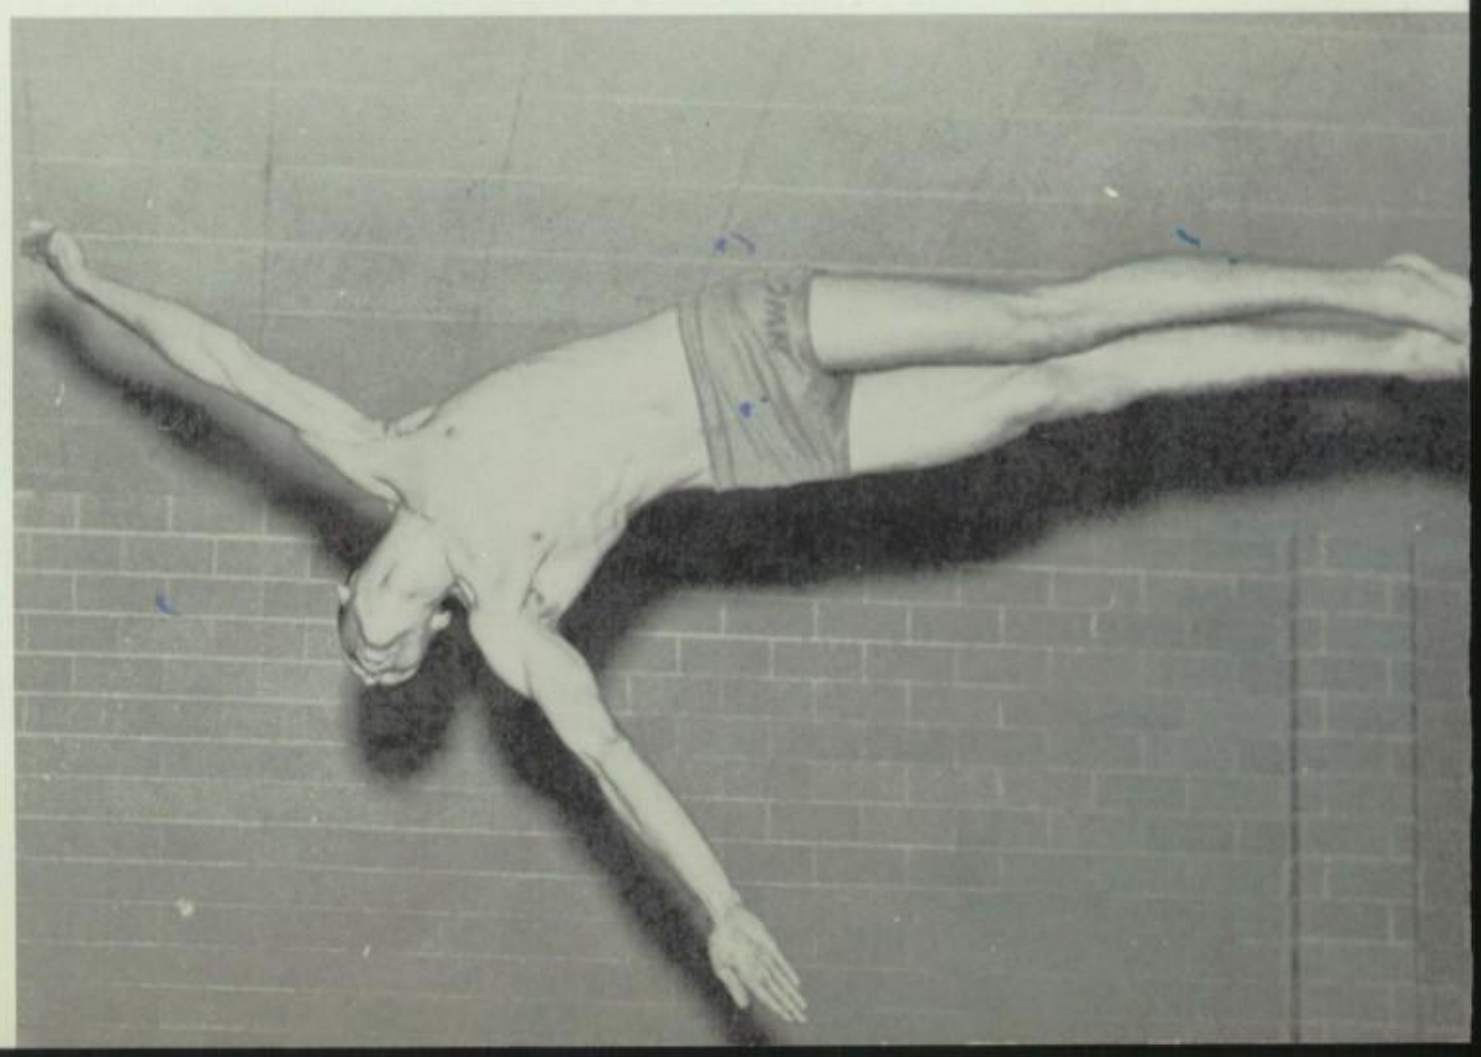
Everyone gets pushed into the drink sooner or later. In this case it's reluctant Mr. Crowe.

Delighted with new All-City trophy, swimmers are: Row 1: McClain, Kennard, Mr. Paul Crowe, coach; Kalmon, Nichols, Irving. Row 2: Todd, Jones, Vernon, Bob Moodie, Cornett, St. John. Row 3: Booth, Hiersche, Bruce Moodie.

Alan Richards practices individual medley.

"Boys will be boys." After having been pushed into the pool by his own swimmers, Mr. Crowe takes time to regain his composure.

Paul Cornett takes a forward dive with a half-twist.



They did it again! Swimmers added another Mid-State Trophy to Knights' growing mound of trophies. In Mid-State Conference second annual meet at Douglass pool, NWC swam away with the second title. Winning five events, Knights piled up 96 points. Closest opponent was Enid with 73 points. Only double winner was Mike Nichols, freshman. Other winners were Jerry Vernon, Les Jones, and the free style relay composed of Rex Kennard, Jerry Hiersche, Jay St. John, and Jerry Vernon.

"Any rags? Any bones? Any bottles today?" Girl "O" Clubbers went all out for rummage sales this year. Profit from one paid for the initiation dinner. A second financed a summer spree to Grand Lake. Row 1: Whytlaw, Widdifield, Sims, Albert, Cox, Biggs, Bay, J. Steadley, Waldrop, File. Row 2: Mrs. Cortez Copher, sponsor; Ames, Matthews, Prater, Higdon, Bleakney, B. Koeppel, Mitchell, Martin, Allison, Coit. Row 3: Miss Margaret Doussett, sponsor; Holmberg, Chance, T. Koeppel, Spears, Nay, McMurran, Loeffler, Dixon, M. Proud possessors of Knightland's first Mid-State trophy, CROSS-COUNTRY lettermen are: Row 1: Duncan, Young, Buchanan, Smith, Merriman, Miller. Row 2: Wimpey, manager; Moncrief, Boyd, Harrison, Hyde, Mr. Leonard Marcotte, coach. They were also City Champions.

HILLS — THRILLS — SPILLS — CHILLS

Two-milers, Dudley Hyde, Bob Boyd, and Dan Duncan gained renown. Boyd, second in All-City; first in Mid-State; fourth in State. Duncan and Hyde, sophomores, placed 14th and 7th respectively at Mid-State.

Running a two-mile course every day in fair weather or foul, would make most people cringe. Not Knightland sprinters. Two new trophies were added this year. Compiling the low score of 34 points, Knights became City Champs by winning the All-City Cross-Country meet. Knights were first Annual Mid-State meet winners with 31 points. At the State meet, they scored 99 points, placing third. In 20 degree weather, with biting wind, Knights lost only to Tulsa's Edison and Central.

Bill Smith, Fred Miller, Vince Moncrief, Woody Young, Don Harrison, Hal Merriman, and Brent Buchanan take off on their two-mile stint around the field.

TRACK TOOK TITLE

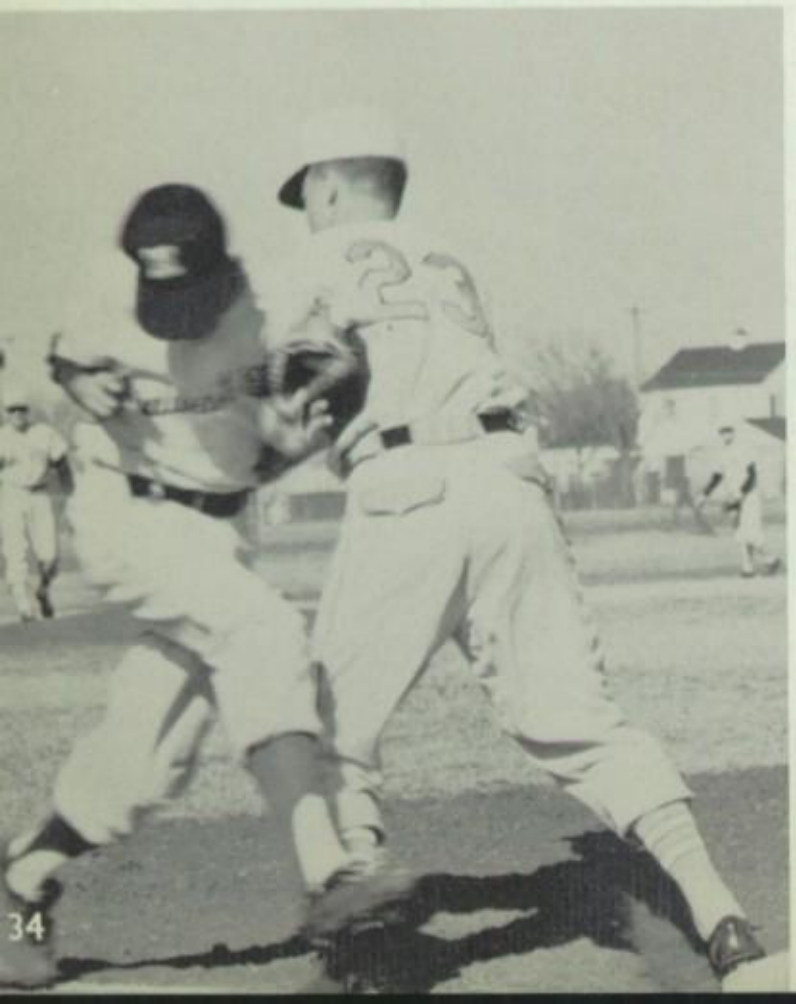
Opening at Forth Worth, Texas, NWC hurdlers placed in finals. Nudged out of second place at the Lawton Invitationals, Knights galloped home with 27 points to Lawton's 28. Wichita Falls, Texas, nabbed 37. J. S. Tier was the meet's high point man, first in high hurdles, second, behind Steve Morelock, in lows. Tier set records in both meet hurdles, 15.2, highs; 19.7, lows, prelims.

Aggie Relays at OSU placed NWC batonmen, Tier, John Ellis, Woody Young, and Fred Miller third in mile relay finals. Miller, Hal Merriman, Vince Moncrief, and Bob Boyd placed third in two mile relays. Amassing a record 67⅓ pts., Knights won All-City Track Title. Tier led individual scoring with 12½ points. Sweeping top three places in the 880 and mile, Knights set new records. Boyd lowered the mile mark to 4:43.2 and Miller beat the half-mile in 2:03.1.

Piling up the most points in the '60 season for NWC were hurdlers J. S. Tier and Steve Morelock.

Distance medley relay team, Brent Buchanan, Vince Moncrief, Hal Merriman, and Bob Boyd, played important roles in cindermen's successes.

Mr. Clayton Davis, coach, poses with Knightland's 1960 baseball team. Row 1: Roblyer, Wimpey, Bartlett, Pace, Miller, Freeny. Row 2: Hill, Duncan, Christian, Dunlevy, McGill, Welborn, King, Purdy, McBryde, Wallis.



First baseman, Rick Dunlevy, puts out a Midwest City Bomber.

WINTER WILTS SPRING TRAINING

Hampered by weather that buried the diamond deep with snow, baseballers got off to a late start. Putnam City opener was canceled. In five games played before yearbook deadline, the Knights had a 3-2 record.

Knight prowess outslugged Amarillo Palo Duro, 8-2, and Amarillo high, 8-4, with Tracy Freeny leading Knight hitters in both games.

First home encounter saw Knight bagmen tumbled 6-0, by Midwest City.

They tipped Enid's Plainsmen, 3-2. By stopping a seventh inning Enid rally, the Knights preserved their meager lead.

Shawnee uncorked a three-run rally in the sixth inning to overpower the Knights lead of 5-4, and won, 7-6.

CRUSADERS

Bewildered Pages . . . industrious Heralds . . . carefree Squires . . . responsible Knights, —heartbeat of our castle.

Innocent, eager, Pages know little of the rigors by which they will become Knights. Earnestly they plod toward the goal of their aspirations.

Friendships that may dim with mounting years, but never die, are precious possessions. Borrowing, lending, quarrelling, mending, are recollections that will evoke smiles and tears as years pass. Knights from varied ways, with incompatible ideas and goals, stood together in classes, and organizations, in one great unit—loyalty to Northwest Classen Knighthood.

Under the watchful eye of the Bronze Knight, Crusaders cross the courtyard daily on their way to and from classes. With passing time of five minutes short cuts are popular.

CLASS OF 1960

THESE TOP KNIGHTS BELIEVED 'LABOR OMNIA VINCIT.' AND IT DID!

This is the year we looked forward to. Three years of hard climbing mark us NWC's first class of four-year Knights.

Caps and gowns, once mere myths, are in sight now. We even visualize that trip leading to a friendly handclasp, an approving smile, and a diploma!

We've been busy helping make Knight history. A school song, banners, emblems, Court Etiquette, honor study halls,—we helped create them. We've seen changes made.

The patio is paved now, and planted. The fountain and memorial plaque have been dedicated. TV teaching, a Great Books course, National Merit Scholarships, electronics, a Round Table commemorating the first IGY,—even before Russia discovered the Moon, a full-time activities director, and a State AA Football title.

Yes, our four years have built much of Knightland's brief history. At our coming we were charged —"Northwest Classen can never become greater than the sum of its parts."

It is a glorious feeling to have had a part. In future years we shall walk through these once familiar halls brimming with memories that will never dim.

Senior Sponsors can smile at last. Their fledglings are Knights! It's a nice feeling they agree. Left to right: Mrs. Ivy Copeland, Sidney Ohmart, Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton, Duane Weinert, Rex Irwin, Mrs. Lucile Spann, Arthur C. Johnson.

Relaxation is an important part of a Busy senior's day—and the Student Lounge is the place to "relaxez-vous." Enjoying a joke by Alan Wudi are Pauletta Best, Marilyn Barnett, Karen Hallmark, Jo Volz, Don Harrison, and Paula Nance.

"No more after-school cokes," sighs vice-president, George Stevens to sergeant at arms, Buddy O'Hara, as he digs deep for the deposit on his class ring. Betty Dixon, secretary; Charlene Harrison, president; and Georgia Hale, treasurer, agree that he has an acceptable suggestion.

To Allen, the "trash man!"
Seriously, please come see us next year. It's been a lot of fun knowing you! Brenda Walker '61'

FOLLOWING THE GLEAM BROUGHT THEM THROUGH

Standing together we beheld our goal glimmering on the horizon. Its tantalizing splendor was more an inner urge than an outer manifestation. It gave the feeling of following the gleam.

From scrawny little Pages, with greenhorn actions and glassy stares, we had in two brief years become fairly sophisticated Squires.

We set about to mend any unworthy efforts, such as grades below B, that had an innocuous way of slipping in when a fellow wasn't watching. Devoted teachers, determined to see that we made the most of ourselves, nipped at our heels, and our daydreams sailed their long wings to heights sometimes beyond our vision.

Realization that we were in the upper ranks leading to Knighthood was exciting but sobering.

Responsibilities were headed our way. The Junior-Senior Prom was in our laps. Soon someone from our ranks would be chosen to head the Student Council,—and that meant the National Student Council Convention. One of us would be named AFS student and go abroad to sell America. Carrying on Knight traditions took on meaning.

Many of us for the first time were seriously considering college. Why had we not thought of all this before? Participation in important activities tempered our foolhardiness. The idea of 'squares' gave way to appreciation of others' abilities.

We were a tighter knit group as we faced the obligations and duties required for full-fledged Knights and Ladies. A new quality,—humility, now modified our approach.

- Allen -
You're a real great guy(ette)
I admire you very much. Lots of luck to you when you leave R.H.S.
Love, Mary Ellen Smith '63

Ellen - I think you're one of the sweetest seniors I've known. I really hate to see you leave WWC because it will mean our acquaintance will weaken. Best wishes for future luck

CLASS OF 1961

1961

Life of a class sponsor is not an easy one. Classmen sometimes forget to be grateful for the services that assure them of standing and prospect of eventually graduating. Junior sponsors gather regularly to confer on matters related to class activities. Meeting with Miss Gladys Shepard, head sponsor, are Miss Margaret Thompson, Miss Doris Taylor, Mr. Clay Davis, Mr. Don Van Pool, and Mr. Lawrence Crouse.

Marvin Kincaid rehearses his lines for Medea amid the tumult of stage hands and costume designers.

Janet and Judy Ketchum, twins, gave forth with "Sisters" for '59 Classics. Pretty,—don't you think?

1962

Choosing class officers got full attention from members of the sophomores. Their ultimate leaders were Terry Arnn, sergeant-at-arms; Billie Matthews, treasurer; Phil Wimpey, president; Judy Ellis, secretary; and Jerry Hiersche, vice-president.

SPUNKY SOPHOMORES SHUNNED SLATE, — HELD ELECTION LATE

Status came slowly in Knightland. Our year as Pages had taught us that standards are respected. We were a courageous crew. We had our foot in the doorway to Learning and we meant to defend our gain.

There were distractions. Paying homage to our victorious Knights of the arena was an exciting diversion. We proudly shared the glory of their state grid championship. Several of our fellow classmen had donned war gear, bore battle scars and longed for more.

Then came the urge to buy publications, AFS shares, do-nuts, wear tags, or silly hats. We did them all,—wholeheartedly.

Serious tasks came our way, too. We learned to express opinions in The Shield, or Student Council, and did our bit in the do-or-die battle with Round Table deadlines.

When CLASSICS time came we ventured forth to offer talent,—we were sure we had some, somewhere. Now was the time to discover it.

As we approached the next rung leading to Knighthood we felt we knew what we wanted and how to get it. Our brief vassalage was but a path to a widening highway to fuller understanding of Knightland. We pushed on eagerly.

Miss Retha Wave Hulet, head sponsor of our gang, is aided in her duties by Mrs. Jeanne Rippee, Miss Olga Koenig, Miss Ann Whitehead, and Mr. Gordon Eriksen.

PAGES PLOD TOWARD PEERAGE

We huddled on the threshold wondering if we'd never get a chance to lead the parade, or carry the banner. KNIGHTLAND was such a vast kingdom, should we venture in further?

An air of assurance and friendliness drew us toward the glittering KNIGHTS we so admired.

Gradually the remoteness of our ambition became less. Devotion to the obligations we had assumed, knowledge of the standards of KNIGHTHOOD, courage in discharging our duties, gave a feeling of belonging. Menial "duc" services earned the fidelity of a champion.

Distances between classes became shorter, halls became wider, task-masters took on human appearances. We even acquired speaking terms with those enthroned in the glass-walled castle we trudged by each day en route to fiefs wherein we earned our daily marks.

Peerage came slowly. We clung to each other. Then suddenly, as spring touched our campus with new life, our vistas widened. Recognition of our existence was touched off when THE SHIELD included us in its annual TOP TEEN rivalry. Our pictures were in THE ROUND TABLE,—we were, indeed, a part of Northwest Classen KNIGHTLAND. Oh, happy day! Encouraged, we looked toward our next year with high anticipation.

Mrs. Bessie Mae Henry, head sponsor of the freshmen, accompanied by Mrs. Ola Mae Oakes, Mrs. Helen Willingham, Mrs. Ruth Warram and Miss Jo Alice Hendricks heads for a committee conference.

CLASS OF '63 BOASTS 295 BOYS TO 260 GIRLS.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

One of Knightland's most wholeheartedly supported activities is student publications. Sales for 1959-60 reached 1703, or 80%. Students in no department make greater sacrifices to deserve the loyalty and support of their associates.

There's no glamour attached to the job. Members of your Round Table staff devoted a tremendous amount of after-school time trying to build the kind of memory book they believed you would cherish. Your confidence was our inspiration. We deeply appreciate your cooperation and interest. Special thanks go to members of the faculty for their indulgence and favors to us on deadline days. To Mr. Malone and Mr. Roblyer, an extra big, "THANK YOU." Their understanding of our problems and special needs made our task possible. To the custodians who tolerated our invasions on Saturdays, and far into the night, we extend our gratitude for heat, light and their watchfulness. To Mr. Barclay Curtis, yearbook counselor from Taylor Publishing Company, we doff our hats. His ever readiness to answer our beck and call gave us confidence that we couldn't go far wrong. We appreciate the kindness of secretaries for leaving us an outside telephone line when we worked late. There are so many others who did nice things for us,—thanks. Especially we thank moms and dads who understood and permitted us to come early and stay late, brought us sandwiches, and even offered to help.

Producing a yearbook is a highly technical undertaking. The goal toward which we strive is PERFECTION. But staffers are just the common run of garden variety students. All this special skill and talent must be developed. No band master would consider taking on raw recruits who couldn't even read music, and weren't too interested in learning. He'd know that in 21 weeks he couldn't possibly produce a top ranking band. SILLY? Maybe not. Pause and you will realize that's exactly what you are asking of your yearbook staff and sponsor.

We have sincerely done our best. We have learned much more about yearbook production than we have been able to demonstrate. Fortunately, several of the staff are juniors, there are even a few sophomores. Their knowledge will be a significant contribution to your 1961 book.

In a book as large as the Round Table, there will be, we regret, some mistakes. These are not the result of negligence. Much time was given to checking and re-checking. But deadline pressures require haste. We beg your indulgence. We have enjoyed being your 1959-60 historians. May our accounting of this outstanding year bring you much pleasure.

Sincerely,

Your Round Table Staff

Mrs. Nevva Sartin, director
Miss Mary Lamb Lewis, art supervisor
Mr. Alvin Bryan, business manager
